REDS FIRE ON AND HIT U. S. PLANE

Kidnaped Girl Found—Happy and relieved, Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Taylor kiss their 4-year-old daughter, Terry, after they flew from Charlotte, N. C., to Annapolis to join the child, who had disappeared three days ago with a 19-year-old nursemaid, who is being held. (AP Wirephoto)

Soviet Pilots Fire on U. S. Patrol Plane

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Two Russian fighter planes recently fired on a United States patrol plane after it flew over the Soviet air base at Port Arthur, government officials disclosed today. Some damage was done to the Navy plane, but none of the eight officers and men aboard was injured.

The incident occurred off the Chinese coast.

The Navy is reported to have taken the matter up with Russian authorities in the China area. The Russians are said to have contended the American plane had no right to fly over the Port Arthur area, since it is a fortified zone. Consequently, they argue, Soviet pilots were fully within their rights to open fire.

Best information here is that the American craft did not return the fire. An official report may be issued.

The view generally expressed at the State Department is that the Russians may have been within their rights to take the action they did, and that even though he may have lost his bearings the American pilot had no legal right to fly over the area.

According to accounts received here, this is what happened:

The Navy patrol plane was operating out of Tsingtao, China, 10 days ago. One report fixed the date as Feb. 20. There were eight Americans aboard. The pilot became confused over his position and thought when he came to Port Arthur he was over a Chinese city.

Port Arthur is mainly a Russian naval base, but there are other military installations involved.

Thinking he was over a Chinese city, the Navy pilot "buzzed" an airfield—flew low over it. As he pulled his plane away from the field Russian fighter planes began a chase.

The fighters overtook the patrol craft between Port Arthur and Chanshan island. They shot away the plane's aerial and made some other hits, but none of the men aboard was hit.

Reports have been received over a period of months indicating the Russians are taking the greatest precautions to protect their installations in the China area against foreign observers.

Soviet Protests Chinese Acts

CHUNGKING, March 1 (AP)—Continuing student demonstrations demanding that Russia get out of Manchuria were reported by the Chinese press today to have drawn a protest from the Soviet government.

Strikers Ban Philadelphia Parade in Move to Halt Riot

PHILADELPHIA, March 1 (AP)—Striking CIO General Electric workers today abandoned, at least temporarily, mass demonstrations which twice ended in violent street battles with police and riot squads. Action followed a city edict banning parading by strikers and a threat of a general sympathy walkout of 150,000 CIO members in the Metropolitan district.

About 200 strikers and sympathizers had gathered in the early morning just across the city line in Delaware County, a few blocks from the strikebound GE plant. More than 100 police massed near the entrance to the city to prevent marching.

The strikers requested permission to enter Philadelphia and 2—Boston American, March 1

Billion U. S. Loan To Russia Hinted

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—The United States has invited the Soviets to come here and talk over a $1,000,000,000 loan.

This was disclosed today by a high ranking government official as President Truman told Congress he soon will recommend adding $1,250,000,000 to the lending powers of the export-import bank to take care of loans to countries other than Britain.

Reds Violate Pact, Keep Troops in Iran Areas

LONDON, March 1 (AP)—The Moscow radio announced today Red army troops would start withdrawing tomorrow from those sections of Iran "which are undisturbed," but would remain in the northwestern area, which includes the province of Azerbaijan.

The Soviet government has informed Irania negotiators that the withdrawal—due tomorrow from all Iran under an Allied agreement—will be limited to eastern areas of Soviet occupation in northern Iran "where the situation is relatively calmer," according to the broadcast.

An autonomous government was reported a month ago to have been set up in Azerbaijan Province after Red army troops blocked off Iranian reinforcements—ordered into the province to put down a revolt. Premier Ahmed Qavam Soltaneh announced Feb. 8, before he left for Moscow to negotiate Russian-Iranian differences, that he would not recognize the Azerbaijan regime.

The broadcast was the first definite indication from the Soviet capital what the Russians intended to do about the withdrawal of foreign troops, set for March 2 under the British-Russian-Iranian treaty of 1942.

It followed a statement at the foreign office here yesterday that all British troops would have been withdrawn by tomorrow, in strict accord with the treaty. The last of the United States forces assigned to Iran were withdrawn Jan. 1.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said there "probably had been exchanges" of information between London and Washington regarding the withdrawal as the deadline neared.

The United States embassy said it had "no information" on any negotiations and, up to the time of the Moscow broadcast, had no indication of what the Russians would do about withdrawing.

U. S. to Protest Red Troops Staying in Iran

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—The United States government is expected by diplomatic officials here to protest to Russia against the newly announced plan of keeping Red forces in so-called "disturbed" areas of Iran.

These diplomats, who refused direct quotation, said it was "perfectly reasonable" to expect the American government to object strongly to the Russian policy. Two reasons for such action were cited.

One is that all Russian troops were supposed to get out of Iran by tomorrow at the latest. The other is that Secy. Byrnes in his New York speech laid heavy emphasis on the need for all countries to get armies home and stop using force or threats of force for political advantage.

The United States is concerned, not only about Russian forces in Iran, but also about those in Manchuria and Austria. Quiet efforts have been under way to get Soviet agreement to a joint Allied withdrawal from Austria.

Byrnes' New York address, generally interpreted as indicating a tougher attitude toward Russia, also opened the way for direct and vigorous measures to try to keep the Russians from stripping property from liberated and former enemy satellite countries.

France Cuts All Ties With Spain

HENDAYE, France, March 1 (AP)—France broke off all commercial relations with Spain today by closing the 300-mile border between the two countries in protest against the continuance in power of Generalissimo Franco's regime.

The official closure, effective at midnight, was devoid of drama. As the hour passed, frontier guards patrolled both sides of the border as usual. The weather was blustery and rainy.

Actually, the frontier was closed two hours before midnight, when the customs officers finished the day's work.

The Paris express arrived an hour late, but was permitted to cross, carrying the last regular travelers, mostly Belgian, Portuguese and Spanish nationals.

The French action effectively severed all commercial intercourse between the two countries, including telegraph, postal, rail and road communications.

Foreign diplomats, Red Cross and UNRRA workers are excepted from the ban on travel, as are Portuguese, French and Spanish nationals returning home.

The only commercial traffic which will be permitted between the two countries is food en route to Portugal or Switzerland, and UNRRA supplies in transit through Spain.

U. S. Arms Sale To Spain Verified

PARIS, March 1 (INS)—Headquarters of the U. S. Army Foreign Liquidation Commission confirmed today the State Department approved the sale of additional surplus military stocks to Spain.

Items involved include six transport planes, eight spare airplane motors, 150 jeeps, 150 trailers and a million sandbags.

This equipment is in addition to five transport planes, 12 spare engines and airport construction equipment sold to Spain last month. The total sale involves $303,975.

Convicts' Plea Put To Tobin by Doyle

After conferring almost two hours today with a 15-man grievance committee of the 568 State Prison inmates, Corrections Comr. J. Paul Doyle declared the parole board attitude was the main complaint of the prisoners and that their other problems were "picaresque."

Warden F. J. W. Lanagan

Dinner Menu For Week at State Prison

Examination of the menus at State Prison for this week disclosed today that the Thursday night supper was one of two light suppers served during the week. The cream of tartar biscuit fare was matched Sunday night with a supper of rice custard, bread, milk or tea. Other suppers for the week included such staples as pork and beans, fish cakes and spinach, scrambled eggs with lima beans and peas and corned beef hash.

The menus were made out one week in advance and mailed to the office of Corrections Comr. Doyle. The heavy meal of the day is always served at noon.

The dinner menu for this week is as follows:

SUNDAY—Meat loaf, brown sauce, mashed potatoes, peas, bread and coffee.

MONDAY—Lamb stew with vegetables, bread and coffee.

TUESDAY—Boiled frankfurts, mustard, potato, cabbage, bread and coffee.

WEDNESDAY—Spaghetti, meat sauce, bread and coffee.

THURSDAY—Veal fricasee, mashed potatoes, carrots, bread and coffee.

FRIDAY—Baked fish, tomato sauce, boiled potatoes, turnip, bread and coffee.

SATURDAY—Grilled bologna, boiled potatoes, wax beans, bread and coffee.

Doyle, who ended an all-day sitdown strike of the entire prisoner group yesterday by promising to relay their complaints to Gov. Tobin, left the prison at noon to confer with the governor at his home.

Tobin later announced he would endeavor to obtain Lewis E. Lawes, famed former warden at Sing Sing prison to make a study of the situation and report back to him. He said the opinion of this outstanding expert would be respected by both the public and the prisoners.

"The prisoners are entitled to just treatment," the governor said. "If it is unfair, it should be remedied. Apparently the principle dissatisfaction is about parole. This is a question which requires study by an outstanding penologist."

Before leaving the prison to confer with the governor, Doyle said he was acting as the "agent" of the inmates in relaying their grievances to the chief executive.

He also absolved Warden Francis J. W. Lanigan of any blame for the outbreak and unrest among the prisoners, saying Lanigan was doing a "good job under pretty rough conditions."

Doyle also declared the prison's property and equipment were a "disgrace to the Commonwealth" and expressed hope his bill for a new $2,500,000 state prison at East Bridgewater, now before the legislative committee on public welfare, would be passed at this session.

"Such an antiquated, dungeon-type institution is hard to operate," he asserted. "The men have no facilities for recreation. In addition to the bad living conditions that's bad."

Doyle made his statement in the parole office of the prison with Warden Lanigan at his side after he emerged from his one-man conference with the prisoners' committee.

"I've discussed all their problems with the boys," he said, "and they tell me that the parole board really is tough with them."

"They say that releases have been very, very few. They are being made to serve maximum sentences and are given setbacks. Other than the requests are simple. Those working all day on

Fire Takes Life Savings and More

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 1 (AP)—Jacob Golden put his life savings into a small store and home.

They burned last night—15 minutes after his insurance policy had lapsed. Funds of a rural church entrusted to Golden went up in smoke.

He remembered he had $90 in a pair of shoes under a bed. A neighbor retrieved the shoes, which now are missing.

The fire spread, consuming his garage, a chicken house and the adjacent home of his daughter.

Was Sailor Sent to Brig For Trip to Dying Girl?

A young Navy hero of the Normandy landings, who sped here in three hours from New London naval base to the City Hospital bedside of his dying fiancée, today brought assertions and denials that he is serving 60 days in the brig because he chose to make her last moments happy. He is Coxswain Jack Adams, 20, of Walnut Creek, Cal., and his late bride-to-be was Marian Hagerty, 19, of Champey pl., Roxbury, who died of leukemia at City Hospital Jan. 17. The couple had been engaged for six months.

MARCH WEDDING—It's an early March altar date between Maria Kemp, former wife of Hal Kemp, band leader, and St. Clair McKelway, screen writer.

The victim's sister, Beatrice, called young Adams at New London shortly before 8 p. m. on the night of Jan. 16, saying doctors declared Marian could not live. Just three hours later, he was holding Marian's hand at the hospital. He never left her bedside until she died at 4 p. m. next day. He then remained to attend her funeral on Monday and reported back Tuesday.

Adams wrote the dead girl's parents he had been court-martialed and put in the brig for 60 days. He wrote the information to his mother, Mrs. Ruby Adams, of Walnut Creek, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

But Navy officials, after refusing at first to comment, later stated there "was no truth" to the report that Adams had been given a 60-day sentence in the brig.

Com. Robert H. Barnes, public relations officer at the base, said there was "no record" Adams had applied for extension of leave and that if he had he would not have been turned down.

He added Adams previously had a record of overstaying leave and was at the time on six months probation. He said Adams was fined $81, given a bad conduct discharge—which was remitted—and then placed on probation as a result of the court-martial. He denied he was in the brig, save for two days after he returned and while awaiting court-martial action.

$150,000 Survey Planned by Curley

Mayor Curley in a press conference today announced plans for the immediate future, including a request to the city council for $150,000 to make a survey of municipal department. He said the survey which was recommended by the finance commission, would be conducted by non-residents and would take two years. He said he would make his request within 10 days.

He said he had referred to the Fin Com a suggestion by Ray Hafford, executive vice-president of Boston Real Estate Exchange, that the survey be undertaken by an unpaid local group of 15 men.

"They tell me," Curley said, "that under Mr. Tobin they did agree to a survey by those interested and all they did was send in accountants and experts and take up everybody's time for a year and a half. And nothing came of it."

He also announced he has called a meeting of members of the city and state planning boards, other city officials and the Boston Elevated for next Monday at noon to discuss extension of rapid transit service from Day sq., East Boston, to the airport.

The mayor pointed out that under the original bill $5,000,000 was allowed for expenditure in the construction with rental of 4 1/2 per cent annually to be paid by the Elevated. He said because of a 50 per cent increase in cost of materials and labor he would ask the group to aid him in getting $2,500,000 more from the Legislature.

Curley also disclosed he thought purchase of three 65-foot fireboats at $20,000 each would be more practical than the purchase of one large boat to cost $43,000. Fire Comr. Russell S. Codman, Jr., he said, agreed.

SUED FOR DIVORCE—A suit for divorce on charges of cruelty has been filed in Worcester Probate Court by Lt. Byron Outley, war hero, against his glamor model wife, the former June Raymond. The case is under advisement. The former Miss Boston of 1942 couldn't be reached for comment.

Inertia Grips Frankfurt As Army of Peace Rules

By AUSTEN LAKE
Boston American Staff Writer

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 1—"This is the Army, Mr. Jones" a peacetime version of a bomb-gutted city turned into a military factory, whose sole function is governing 12,000,000 resentful aliens.

I never thought this town could be pieced together again when I saw it last during the process of capture 11 months ago, but it works, what is left of it, though without enthusiasm by the conquered or the conquerors.

Native people move through cleaned-up streets as though they were drug addicts. Our military drools apathetically at the task of restoring them to fitness for world citizenship. Neither appears to have any faith in his job. As one old-time combat sergeant with seven service stripes told me: "Both sides are just going through the motions."

Of course, this is merely my first impression of Army occupation and I am apt to judge it against the standard of the wartime combat efficiency of trained troops, but it seems like an overseas replica of the Washington Pentagon Building, where cobwebs of inertia grow and bureaucracy nods over its tasks.

During a 12 hour wait between trains from Paris to Nurnberg, I wanted to inspect a big I. G. Farben plant on the rim of a thickly built section—a gigantic row of yellow brick buildings, which are miraculously untouched by bombs, and where all around lie ruins.

I was told to see Maj. McClintock. Maj. McClintock was not in. "Sorry, I don't know where he is, but you should see Capt. Staley." I go to another section. "Capt. Staley is not in. Don't know where he is."

This round-the-mulberry-bush procedure was repeated several more times. Nobody home.

Still, the day had its compensations. I was sitting in the Press Hotel lobby waiting for a sergeant to make train reservations to Nurnberg at 6:40 p. m.—nicely scheduled to arrive at midnight.

(Though only a three-hour jeep ride from here, the transportation officer says there are not enough jeeps any more, but jeeps are as thick in the streets and roads as a schoolboy's freckles, many driven by Germans, Poles and civilians on mysterious errands.)

So I sit, ruminating on why an Army mess sergeant on the Paris train aroused everybody at 5:45 a. m. for breakfast, though the train was still 2 1/2 hours from its destination.

I was sitting there, still burning at the memory of this, when I heard a voice say: "Hey, Austen! I look up and see Dave Gordon, ex-sports writer for the Boston Record-American and a member of the Fourth Armored, who was just discharged today, and carried his papers in his pockets.

He wants to tell his friends around 47 Wolcott st., Dorchester, that he will be home as soon as he gets his travel orders. Also to tell Jack Conway and Sam Cohen he wants his job back in the Sports Dept.

O yes, I manage to get a haircut, German haircut, Hitler style. That is the substance of my 24 hours since leaving Paris. Wonderful time—wish you were here!

$1,901,150 Drive Of Red Cross Opens

Greater Boston's campaign to raise $1,901,150 for the Red Cross opened officially today when 30,000 volunteer solicitors started their rounds of homes and business establishments to ask contributions.

Francis W. Hatch, campaign chairman, in a message to the solicitors as they began their rounds, urged them to regard their task as a sacred trust.

"We are privileged to have an opportunity to do something for those who have done so much for us—for the 400,000 of our finest who lie ill and cruelly maimed in our hospitals, for the thousands of our boys still overseas, and for returning veterans," Hatch said.

The campaign got off to a glorious start at a Symphony Hall rally. Wounded veterans who were helped mentally, physically and morally by the Red Cross were there to tell the public how greatly the Red Cross service is needed and how well it performed.

Gov. Tobin, Mayor Curley, Gen. Sherman Miles and other civic, church and labor leaders were there to tell how the Red Cross operates to save lives and ease the burden of disaster, war, flood and famine. Gen. Miles called the roll of Red Cross services. Leland Stowe, world-travelled war correspondent, told of Red Cross work around the world, on the battlefields, in the hospitals and in the war ravaged countries he visited.

3 Youths Admit Planning Holdups

Three youths, captured after a chase on foot through downtown streets early today, admitted in the police lineup they had planned one time. They are being held for taurant chain.

Dogs by Carload Supplied In Hub for Vivisection

WASHINGTON, March 1—Boston hospitals and Massachusetts medical schools are supplied with dogs for vivisection in "carload lots," Joseph Strickland, investigator for the New England Anti-Vivisection Society, told a House committee which today began hearing proponents of the practice.

Port to Release 3000 Workers

More than 3000 skilled and unskilled workers will be released during the next eight weeks by the Boston support of embarkation as the command is liquidated. Col. Charles E. Berkshire announced today.

He said some of those released would be transferred to other government agencies but arrangements were being made by which private industry and business could recruit employees.

Among the personnel available soon will be administrators, office managers, accountants, auditors, statisticians, stenographers, clerks, carpenters, welders, steamfitters, plumbers, warehousemen, chauffeurs, elevator operators, janitors and watchmen.

Col. Berkshire said the liquidation would be accomplished gradually with a few hundred in all categories being released each week.

JAPS AID INDONESIANS

BATAVIA, March 1 (AP)—A Dutch civilian radio technician, prisoner of the Indonesians more than a month, said today Jap troops in the Bandoeng area are both training and fighting with unrecognized Indonesian republic troops.

Strickland, testifying in favor of a bill introduced by Rep. William Lemke of North Dakota, which would prohibit vivisection of dogs in the national capital, charged a powerful medical lobby was attempting to choke off all testimony in favor of the bill.

Rep. George J. Bates of Massachusetts, member of the District of Columbia subcommittee of the House Judiciary committee, expressing opposition to the bill, brought forth Strickland's charge.

Bates asked the investigator why his testimony of horrifying conditions in the Bay State was not given to the Massachusetts Legislature. Strickland informed him hearings on the Massachusetts anti-vivisection bill begin on March 11.

Strickland told the committee the dogs supplied to Hub hospitals and medical schools in Massachusetts in "carload lots" are largely for the practice of students in the use of the surgical knife.

"One of the largest establishments in this traffic," he testified, "is a kennel near Boston. It advertises for stray dogs, displays a big road sign 'A home for homeless dogs.' The kennel does its biggest business with two large medical schools."

Rep. Lemke said if the attempts by the medical lobby to strangle the bill with technicalities continue he will circulate a petition in the House which will take the bill out of the hands of the committee. Signatures of 218 members are needed to bring the bill to the floor of the House for debate and ballot.

She described it as orangeade, milk, rye whiskey and beer. "He didn't drink that all together?" asked Suffolk Probate Judge Frederick J. Dillon.

"He certainly did," she replied. "He stirred it up and tossed it down. It used to make him ugly and once he threw me on the floor because I wouldn't go to the rodeo with him."

"Divorce granted on ground of cruelty," said Judge Dillon, firmly.

4 Boys Caught In Stolen Auto

Following an early morning chase by Metropolitan District Police, four Greater Boston youths in a stolen car were trapped between a police cruiser and a civilian auto almost in front of the Basin station of the MDC and captured at gunpoint. Booked on charges of illegal possession of firearms, larceny of an auto and larceny of an auto registration plate, the four were in the police lineup at Boston headquarters before being arraigned in East Cambridge court.

One of the quartet, Charles E. Voulgaris, 19, alias Charles Andreadopolis, alias Charlie the Greek, had been sought by Boston police since Feb. 2 when he escaped from Station 16 a few hours after being arrested on bad check charges.

The other three under arrest are Anthony Viera, 19, of Pleasant st., Malden; Peter Simonelli, 18, of Corey st., Everett, and Steve Montecolvo, 21, of Marlboro st., Malden.

Police said they would ask for a court continuance of the cases, pending further investigation of the youths' recent activities. They were to be questioned as to their knowledge of a series of gasoline station holdups in the Greater Boston area.

Officers William M. Gibson and Michael F. Treacy of the Metropolitan police were in a cruiser car in Commercial st., near the Prison Point bridge, when they saw a sedan with a bent registration plate, cross the bridge and turn onto the viaduct.

A check disclosed the car had been reported stolen, and the chase began.

When the fugitive car was trapped outside the Basin station, the siren on the police cruiser became jammed and the noise brought Sgt. Arthur J. Reinstein and three other officers running out to see what the trouble was.

They drew their guns and aided Officers Gibson and Treacy in arresting the four youths.

A search of the stolen car disclosed two loaded pistols on the rear seat, and while the four were being searched, some .32-caliber cartridges were found wrapped in a handkerchief in one youth's pocket, police reported.

After being booked, Sgt. Reinstein said, the quartet tried to dispose of some jewelry and pawn tickets down the hopper in a washroom, together with a key to a locker at Malden Y. M. C. A., which will be opened to see if it contains any stolen property.

According to police, Voulgaris has a long record of bad check passing.

Gloucester Wife Denies Car Tryst With "Mr. X"

Mrs. Helen M. Mackey, 42, of Gloucester, declared in Salem probate court today she did not love a man described only as "Mr. X," but respected him.

She testified in hearing of cross suits in which she seeks separation from her husband, James, 48, of Rockport, on grounds of desertion and intoxication, and in which he alleges desertion.

She denied her husband's testimony he had found her with "Mr. X" in the rear seat of the latter's car on the lonely Wenham road. She said they had been standing beside the car, which had a flat tire as they were returning from a business trip to Boston.

Her trouble with her husband began in 1928, six years after their marriage, she said, when he began to make home brew and drank 30 bottles in one day.

She first met "Mr. X" 10 years ago, she said, and was friendly with his entire family. She said they went to movies together.

Earlier, Mrs. Bentley, owner of an apartment house in Middle st., Gloucester, testified Mrs. Mackey had inspected a two-room apartment there which later was rented by "Mr. X." She said Mrs. Mackey visited him there and she thought they were an engaged couple.

The case is continuing.

Bandits Get Cold Food, No Payroll

LAWRENCE, March 1—Two would-be payroll bandits wound up with a leather bag of lunch today while their victim, William Morris, 58, of Duford rd., Andover, landed in Lawrence General Hospital with scalp lacerations and an arm injury.

Morris told police he was on his way to work in the mill district, carrying a leather handbag containing lunch, a towel and a shirt when he was set upon by the two men, one masked and carrying a gun.

This is the regular payday at many mills, so police assumed the pair mistook Morris' satchel for a bag of payroll.

They slugged him and wrenched the bag from him.

Witnesses reported the number of their car. Police found it had been owned by a student who sold it recently to a Lawrence garage.

Mayor Gets Earache, Moms Get Nurseries

Thirty determined mothers accompanied by 15 children stormed Mayor Curley's office today demanding he reopen at the city's expense the six war nurseries closed yesterday by the Federal government.

Originally set up for children of mothers engaged in defense work, they cared for about 162 children.

The mothers shrieked and yelled outside Curley's office until given audience and then engaged in a verbal free-for-all with the mayor. He told them the city could not act on the authorization of such funds until the State acts.

He suggested: "Go up to the State House and get them to act. You probably could get action within 24 hours."

But the mothers spurned this strategy. Finally, a compromise was effected—the mothers asked if they could have the use of the George Robert White health units where the nurseries were located, suggesting they would themselves pay the personnel.

The mayor agreed.

Prisoners Set Free To British Cell Block

NORTHALLERTON, Yorkshire, Eng., March 1 (AP)—Some 70 Army convicts rioted and set fire to a four story cell block in the Northallerton military prison today, after arming themselves with rifles and bayonets.

Rioters broke through to the roof and started hurling slate shingles at the unarmed guards patrolling the courtyard. Firemen turned hoses on the blaze and the rioters.

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Two hundred American ships manned by Jap crews will speed the evacuation of 3,300,000 Japanese remaining in China, Manchuria and Formosa, the War and Navy Departments announced today.

Rector Gets Pub to Visit

BUCKNELL, Eng., March 1 (AP)—This Oxfordshire town was granted a full liquor license today after the village rector had declared he would frequent the village pub.

"The village that lacks a public house lacks social influence, heritage of the British people," the Rev. F. Nett told the magistrates. "I want to remove the

Nurse Faces Court In Kidnap of Girl, 4

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 1 (AP)—A young nursemaid was started on her way south to face abduction charges today as an anti-climax to the happy reunion of 4-year-old

Terry Taylor and her parents—a reunion Terry took with complete calm.

Detective Capt. Frank Littlejohn of Charlotte, N. C., announced he had charged the nursemaid—known by several names—with abducting Terry from a Charlotte park on Tuesday.

He said she would be taken first to Washington for questioning by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and then would go to Charlotte.

The warrant was made out in the name of Rosemary Johnson, 19, which the young woman used in Charlotte. But Littlejohn signed a receipt for her from Annapolis police calling her Loretta Brozek, alias Sarah White. Police Comr. Thomas G. Basil said she had given a fourth name in Annapolis Wednesday and a fifth last night shortly after she and Terry had been found.

Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Taylor, Terry's parents, came from Charlotte to Annapolis early today for the reunion with their daughter. Shortly afterwards they left for Washington and planned to fly back home.

Terry was at Basil's home finishing a breakfast of cookies and milk when her mother entered.

Terry looked up and said, "Hello."

"Hello, darling," Mrs. Taylor said. "Did you have a good time?"

"Yes," Terry said, still nibbling.

Dr. Taylor entered and both he and his wife kissed the little girl's crumb-smudged face.

Terry was wearing the same corduroy clothes she had on when she disappeared.

Mrs. Taylor was notified at 8 o'clock last night that Terry and the nurse had been found here.

"I never doubted the child would be found," she said. "I have no feeling of malice toward the nurse. Rather, I pity her."

The child and the nurse were found by police and naval intelligence officers after a tip from Mrs. Helene Seay, wife of Capt. George Cameron Seay of the Naval Academy. The child and the nurse were at the Seay home.

The young woman, Basil said, came to Annapolis at the end of a journey which started out as a trip to a Charlotte soda fountain with Terry and a soldier.

Mrs. Seay said the nurse posed as a destitute widow of three weeks with a 4-year-old child. The "mother" called the child "Jerry."

WILL QUIT TO WED—The coming marriage of Jan Clayton, stage and screen actress, to Al Lerner, New York millionaire, will mark the end of her professional career according to an announcement by Miss Clayton in Hollywood.

Bride to U.S. GI Europe-Bound

NEW YORK, March 1 (INS)—Cpl. John J. Cooper of Nanticoke, Pa., was told it probably would be years before his war bride, Hazel, a British nurse, would be able to get passage to America.

So the 30-year-old soldier renlisted on his arrival in this country, and applied for overseas duty to be near her.

But today Mrs. Cooper is arriving on the Queen Mary—which will bring in 1766 wives and 626 children.

The corporal is waiting on the pier. He is stationed at Ft. Meade—awaiting reassignment overseas.

Continue OPA, Kaiser Urges

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Henry J. Kaiser told Congress today that removal of price controls "would spell ruin for the great mass of mankind which has only limited purchasing power."

The West Coast industrialist made the forecast while urging the House Banking Committee to approve legislation to continue OPA.

Kaiser declared abolition of the agency would result in "inflation of disastrous proportions" throughout the whole field of production and distribution... laying its heaviest toll on those who are the least able to bear it."

Unknown Marine Dies of Injuries

Found unconscious in the Morton playground, North End, early today, a youth about 22, clad in a Marine uniform, died a half hour later at the Chelsea Naval Hospital. Police said the Navy planned to take fingerprints today to establish his identity.

Dr. Robert Hanill, Navy physician, said the youth died of a head injury which might have been caused by either a blow or a fall. Police ruled out robbery as a motive because the victim had $10 in his pockets. Investigators said he may have slipped on the ice and crawled into the playground.

The only clue to identity was the printed name in the uniform of R. N. But, but no address was listed. The victim was discovered by Peter J. Iannaco of Cooper st. and Miss Frances R. Ardino, of Salem st., as they were cutting across the playground.

ITALY'S VOTE PLAN

ROME, March 1 (AP)—The Italian cabinet decided today to apply "moral sanctions" instead of criminal penalties to persons who abstain from voting in the forthcoming general elections. Names of those who, without justification, fail to vote will be posted in city halls.

Cardinal Exposes Red War on Church

ROME, March 1 (AP)—Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, secretary of the Congregation for the Oriental Church, charged today that "east of the Curzon line the Soviet policy aims at destruction of Catholicism and this is in open violation of one of the four freedoms."

The Curzon line is the marker across pre-war Poland which in general was agreed upon by the Moscow and Warsaw governments as the new eastern boundary of Poland.

"Since in Russia, practically speaking, no other Christian church is allowed except the Orthodox Church of Moscow, the order of the day is that the Ruthenian Catholic Church must disappear," his statement said. Ruthenia, formerly known as the Carpatho-Ukraine in Czechoslovakia, was ceded to Russia by the Prague government.

"Priests, religious orders and sisters are being deported systematically. Of over 2000 secular priests of the Ruthenian Catholic Church, it appears that over a fifth have already suffered this punishment."

In lower Carpathia, he added, "Catholic schools have been suppressed, and their property confiscated by the state; sermons are censored; priests deprived of their means of livelihood are forced to seek any kind of manual labor in order to live."

"Communist propagandists hold meetings in the villages to urge the Catholics to join the Orthodox Church of Moscow," he said, "and equal pressure is coming to be used in regard to the priests."

"But since the priests have all remained steadfast in the Catholic faith they are being publicly labelled as 'enemies of the people,' with all the terrible consequences that such a designation carries."

Brooklyn Man Held Here on Jewelry Theft

Ira Fox, 55, of Brooklyn, N. Y., pleaded not guilty in Roxbury court today to a larceny charge of $1000 worth of jewelry and was held in $2500 bonds for further hearing March 7.

Fox was nabbed at a Back Bay hotel with a 42-year-old Brooklyn woman, similarly charged in a $1000 theft, but not in court because she faced another arraignment in municipal court in connection with her visit to a Back Bay shop. Police believe the jewelry was stolen in New York and brought here to be disposed of.

Governors Back Oratory Test

By BERT FORD

New England, home of the fathers of American democracy and principles of freedom, was represented today by the governors of all six states in unanimous endorsement of the 1946 Hearst Newspapers National Oratorical Contest: "Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States." The contest, with total national and local awards of $25,000 in Victory Bonds, is open to high school and college students in 13 key cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts, and headquarters of the Eastern Zone and national finals will be in Boston.

As chief executive of Massachusetts, host state to these young students, Gov. Tobin today reaffirmed his endorsement of the contest and renewed his cordial invitation to the students to enlist in this patriotic and educational competition.

"Massachusetts is honored to be the national headquarters of this oratorical contest, which should be far-reaching as an inspiration to young people whose immediate problems as citizens and future citizens offer a dramatic parallel to the problems faced by Andrew Jackson, who never failed in his country's service either in war or in peace," Gov. Tobin said.

Gov. John A. Pastore of Rhode Island declared:

"This contest honors one of the great Americans of his own time and of all time, Andrew Jackson, a man of the people who served his people in war and peace. He is a shining example of patriotism today to our young people, many of whom have fought in the nation's most critical war, and all of whom are the hope of America's future."

Other New England governors to endorse the contest as an inspiration to the patriotism of American youth were Gov. Horace Hildreth of Maine, Gov. Mortimer H. Proctor of Vermont, Gov. Charles M. Dale of New Ham-shire and Gov. Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut.

Also joining in endorsement is Lt. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold, U. S. A., commanding general, First Service Command. Gen. Griswold said:

"Through the skilled use of the spoken word, some of the greatest movements in our history have been launched. Time without number, the well-chosen words of an able orator have changed the course of events, even the course of the nation."

"Oratorical contests in the schools of our country are always worth while, for the encouragement of our youth to become vocal and articulate on topics of the day. It seems to me no finer topic for discussion than the life of Andrew Jackson could have been chosen for this particular time."

Local finals in Boston will be held April 10 in historic Faneuil Hall. During the afternoon students from public and parochial high schools in Boston will compete, and during the evening the local finals will be held for college students throughout the area.

Local awards in both high school and college groups, equally divided, are:

First prize, $250; second, $100; third, $75; fourth, $50; fifth, $25.

While still in his 'teens, Andrew Jackson devoted himself to the study of law, although he possessed little formal education. Shortly after obtaining his law degree, he migrated from South Carolina to the then unexplored wilderness of Tennessee, and it was this state, he later insisted, that gave him his real opportunity in life.

Amid the hardships of the frontier, which included constant fighting with the Indians, Jackson established himself as an eminent attorney. In 1796, when Tennessee became the 16th State of the Union, the people elected him as delegate to frame the first state constitution.

all prizes in Victory Bonds. There will also be an additional $50 Victory Bond awarded to every contestant who reaches the Eastern Zone finals.

The zone finals will be held in Boston on April 24, and the national finals, also in Boston, on May 2. First prize in the national finals will be a $1000 Victory Bond, and to each runner-up, a $100 Victory Bond.

ORATORY CONTEST RULES

- 1.—An oration must be delivered without reference to notes.
- 2.—It must not exceed six minutes.
- 3.—The general subject is: Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States.
- 4.—Each school entered must conduct its own intramural competition, choosing its own judges and following its own procedure. Individual school winners so selected must be announced to the Oratorical Editor.
- 5.—Elimination contests will be held in each city specified, according to local zone special judges will be chosen for these contests. The decision of the judges is binding.
- 6.—The city-wide contests will be held in Boston on April 10. Winners will receive local prizes.
- 7.—The Eastern zone finals will be held in Boston on April 24. Winners of Eastern zone will participate. At the same time the Mid-western and Pacific zones will choose their winners.
- 8.—Zone winners will meet for the grand National finals in Boston, May 2, when National prizes will be awarded.
- 9.—Winners of grand National prizes in past Hearst Oratorical Contests, and students who are related to any employee of the Hearst Newspapers are not eligible to compete.
- 10.—The decisions of the oratorical judges will be final.

Pope Sends Special Blessings to U. S.

ROME, March 1 (AP)—Pope Pius imparted a special blessing on the people of the United States today in a mass audience with John Cardinal Glennon of St. Louis, Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and their parties.

"Please send my special blessings to all your great people of your beloved country," the Pope said to the kneeling Americans after he met each individually.

The Pope, who will be 70 years old tomorrow, was given a contribution of $10,000 in two equal checks by George J. Gillespie of New York, president of the Superior Council of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. The $5000 gifts were from the New York and national societies in America. The money will be used to help needy Italians.

Gillespie, a member of Cardinal Spellman's party, said the society in America has $100,000 ready for use for the needy of Europe.

Gillespie offered the checks to Cardinal Spellman for presentation to the Pope, but said Cardinal Spellman turned them back to him with "the privilege and honor" of making the presentation. Gillespie said it was the first time since the war the society has been able to make a direct contribution to the Vatican for relief work.

Cardinal Spellman presented to the Pope a five-year report on the archdiocese of New York and Cardinal Glennon presented a similar report for the St. Louis archdiocese.

When the greetings were over, the Pope turned slowly and faced the visitors, who knelt.

He blessed them and then, turning them, sent his blessings to the United States.

Included in Cardinal Spellman's party was Bishop Louis F. Keller, Somerville, Mass.; Rev. Laurence B. Killian, Woburn, Mass.; Rev. John J. Kelley, Hartford, Ct.; James A. Farley, New York.

Cardinal Delayed

ROME, March 1 (INS)—Bad weather today forced a 24-hour delay in the departure for Madrid of Francis Cardinal Spellman on his way home to New York.

As a result, a state dinner to be given by the Spanish government to Cardinal Spellman and other members of the Sacred College has been cancelled.

A stopover will be made in the Spanish capital as planned, however.

Rev. John J. Starr, Whitman, Mass.; Dr. Martin H. Spellman, Boston; Dr. John W. Spellman, Chestnut Hill, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pegnam, Whitman, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. George Garity, Abington, Mass.; and Lt. Mary Pegnam, Whitman.

Probe Reveals Vets Beaten in Hospitals

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—A House veterans' subcommittee reported today it had found "some cases of beatings and mistreatment of patients in certain Veterans' Administration hospitals.

The finding was one of a series in the report, based on an investigation that started early last year following charges by Rep. Philbin (D.) of Massachusetts, of "inefficiency and callous treatment" of veterans.

The committee made 22 recommendations, including one that the Veterans' Administration undertake "continuous" undercover investigation of all neuropsychiatric hospitals.

The committee said its investigation showed "an attitude of complacency and inflexibility" on the part of some administrative heads, but that it found also "many loyal and hard-working staff members who were doing all in their power to cope with an increasingly grave emergency.

Other findings included: "Assignment of conscientious objects and troops by the Army to certain Veterans' Administration hospitals has caused some mistreatment and maltreatment of patients.

"There has been maladministration of some hospitals operated by the Veterans' Administration.

"The administrator of veterans affairs could not discharge incompetent professional medical personnel without preferring charges against the individual and then sustaining these charges in a complicated time-consuming procedure. The administration has followed the practice of merely transferring incompetent employees from one station to another, which causes the patients to suffer."

The committee said it believed legislation giving the veterans' administrator authority in hiring and firing medical personnel and establishing a department of medicine and surgery would improve care and treatment of veterans.

The report suggested: "The administrator eliminate immediately the use of military titles and uniforms of a military character, when personnel is no longer in the military service, in all hospitals, homes and stations throughout the Veterans' Administration.

"An independent board of review should be established to hear the complaints concerning the operation of hospitals and the treatment accorded veterans, and such board should report to the administrator of veterans' affairs.

"A regional office of the Veterans' Administration, as well as a veterans' hospital, should immediately be established in Alaska."

Squantum Base Office Burned

Fire of undetermined origin today destroyed the Naval Air Transport Service office in the operations building at Squantum Naval Air Station, causing damage estimated at $14,000.

Quincy firemen joined in battling the blaze which lasted 50 minutes. The Navy reported the entire building suffered from smoke damage and that records of the NATS were destroyed.

Operations of the NATS, as far as routine flight service is concerned, are completely disrupted, but regularly scheduled flights are moving on an emergency setup.

Pro-Axis Peron Leading, 2 to 1

BUENOS AIRES, March 1 (AP)—Col. Juan D. Peron, former Argentine vice-president described by the U. S. State Department as pro-Axis, forged into a two-to-one lead today in the indicated electoral vote on the basis of still-meager returns from Sunday's presidential elections.

Peron, however, was only approximately 5000 votes ahead of the Democratic Union's Dr. Jose Tamborini in the popular vote. In 4 per cent of ballots counted, Peron led, 62,614 to 57,890.

A computation of votes for seats in the National Chamber of Deputies showed Peron forces far in the lead, with 62 places apparently assured as compared with 20 for Radicals and two for Progressive Democrats.

A tabulation early today showed Peron leading in six provinces having 152 electoral votes and Tamborini in four provinces with 78 votes. Ten of Tamborini's votes—from the province of San Luis, where the count is complete—were assured.

dirty jobs, such as the foundry or coal pile, wanted showers after work instead of the one a week they are allowed now. I gave them permission to quit work early and shower in the laundry and have so instructed the warden."

Asked if he felt the complaints against the parole board were just and if the board was at fault he replied:

"I'm not going on record on that situation. I'm not prepared to answer it. I'm merely going to the governor as the agent of the men to tell him their complaints. I have no authority on paroles, no authority on releases."

"Yes," he said, "the parole problem is the main thing. The rest is picayune."

to deal directly with the men as he had done.

He denied reports quoting him as saying Warden Lanigan should have known better than to serve an evening meal of tea and cream of tartar biscuits. In reply to a question whether he had criticised Lanigan, he said:

"I'll have to look into that. I did think the supper last night was pretty rough. But under the conditions, the warden is doing all right. He has pretty rough conditions here and I do not blame him in any way for yesterday's uprising."

Doyle was unable to say whether the uprising was planned or spontaneous and admitted he had not asked the men. He said he felt it would be unwise to seek out any leaders of the uprising.

As far as the food was concerned, he said, the man wanted better menus, and Warden Lanigan interposed with the statement that virtually the same menus had been used at the prison for some 30 years.

"How about special food for some favored prisoners?" Doyle was asked.

"That's out," he declared. "From now on, I told the men, everyone will be on the same diet and I have instructed the warden to that effect."

He said all issues had been settled in the minds of the men and he did not anticipate any further uprising or violence.

The situation, however, remained tense inside the prison. Guards reported there was still unrest among the prisoners and an attitude of watchful waiting to see how their complaints were treated.

Doyle's action in taking over the handling of the outbreak and in allegedly scoring Warden Lanigan about food conditions also was criticised resentfully by a spokesman for the guards.

"Sure, he quieted them down," the spokesman admitted today. "But how did he do it? By setting himself up as a virtual business agent for a prisoners' union. We've had unrest here, especially during the last few months and we've been lucky there hasn't been a serious outbreak."

"He should have had the courtesy at least to invite the warden into the chapel with him. The boys would have talked in front of the warden just as quickly as they did to him.

Then he criticises the warden about the food and says he should have known better than to serve the men cream of tartar biscuits and tea for supper last night. Well, Mr. Doyle knew that was the meal as early as the first of the week because he gets a copy of the week's menu in advance.¹⁹

Attaches in the commissioner's office confirmed the statement that copies of the prison menu for the week were sent there in advance every week.

When Doyle arrived at the prison today he declined to consider a suggestion that his conference with the prisoners' committee be opened on the ground that radical statements might be made by some of the inmates which would lead to further trouble.

"But I'm going to learn what the reason is for the cost of meals being so high here," he declared. "It costs 60½ cents a day to feed each inmate, compared to 30 cents at Bridgewater and 33 at Norfolk Colony.

"I'm going to have an expert in here to find out how we can reduce the individual cost of feeding the prisoners. I know that Bridgewater and Norfolk have farms which help feed their inmates, but the spread shouldn't be so high."

He was asked if he was going to investigate complaints that some favored prisoners were getting better meals than others in return for activities as "stool pigeons."

"All those are going to be cut out," he declared emphatically.

"You mean the better meals which are alleged to have been served to the stool pigeons of Deputy Warden Frank N. Graves?" he was asked.

"That's what the boys tell me," he replied.

Vet Wins Police Job, But Waits

Edward T. Clark, 31, wounded veteran, will continue on his present job as a sheet metal worker until his attorney returns from a winter vacation, despite decision of a master in Quincy Court he is entitled to his old job on the Randolph police force.

Atty. Louis Loeb, Clark's counsel, is in Miami and not expected to return until March 14. Clark announced he would make no attempt to contact Police Chief Patrick T. McDonnell until he talks with Loeb.

Clark made the announcement following a decision of Judge Maurice J. Murphy, sitting as master in Quincy Court, that the action of Randolph selectmen in removing Clark was not justified. No ruling was made on the question of giving the veteran a desk job as he requested on his return from service.

Hirohito in Mire, Laughs at Boy

TOKYO, March 1 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito sloshed through shoe-top so deep slush today on an inspection tour of war ruins and reconstruction projects in Tokyo suburbs while his subjects stood bareheaded in a heavy snowfall.

Hirohito stood for 10 minutes in the falling snow outside the window of a kindergarten—peering inside at 21 war orphans pasting paper cutouts and making simple toys.

A bug-eyed 4-year-old held out his hand to Associated Press Photographer Charles Gorry for an expended flash bulb. Gorry gave it to the boy, who bowed solemnly, turned his back on his emperor and walked away with the precious trinket tightly clasped in his hand. The emperor laughed heartily.

11 Driven Out By Waltham Fire

Eleven persons were driven out early today when fire, sweeping through the attic to the roof of a six-apartment duplex wooden frame apartment building, caused $10,000 damage in Derby st., Waltham.

It started in the kitchen of the home of Arthur Collette, who was awakened by smoke and aroused the tenants.

Those driven out were Ronald J. White, Mrs. Dolly Shek, Mr. and Mrs. Rosario Russo, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hutchinson and their son Frederick, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John A. Coen and their children Paula, 2, and John J., 6 months and Thomas Noonan.

Jail Has Charms For This Busman

CHICAGO, March 1 (AP)—Stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage, John Jakubec, 30, recited poetically to Superior Judge Edwin A. Robson yesterday.

Jakubec, a bus driver, was lavish in his praise of the Cook County jail, where he had been confined since yesterday.

"The cook there is something out of this world," he told Judge Robson. "The peace and quiet rival a penthouse. My cellmates are fine fellows. Gosh, jail is a great place!"

Jakubec was $100 in arrears in alimony to his estranged wife. Judge Robson indicated he might free him.

"You couldn't do that," Jakubec protested. "I have bus driver's kidney. I need a rest."

So court sentenced him to jail for six months.

"EGYPT DAY" MONDAY

DAMASCUS, March 1 (AP)—Syria prepared today to observe "Egypt Day" Monday with a shutdown of business and Syrian youth and student organizations' demonstrations as evidence of the solidarity of Syria and Egypt in the "present ordeal."

Her 40-Lb. Baby

CHICAGO, March 1 (AP)—Bebe's new baby is a girl hippotamus.

Bebe, Brookfield Zoo's prize hippo, which gave birth to her sixth calf Sunday, didn't get hungry until yesterday when she lumbered out of her pool for the first time since the blessed event and headed for good in an adjoining cage.

The baby hippo, about 30 inches tall and weighing about 40 pounds, followed Mama Bebe out of the tank and Director Robert Beap disclosed it was a female. Beap said the baby made it even for Bebe—three sons and three daughters born in 11 years. Bebe, 16 years old, weighs 3400 pounds.

Family Greet Waterbury Fugitive, Lensman Slugged

SPRINGFIELD, March 1 (INS) —A tearful reunion of Daniel Leary, fugitive former Waterbury, Ct., comptroller, with his family was marked today by the slugging of a newspaper photographer at Union Station.

Mrs. Sadie D. Leary and their daughter, Eleanor, greeted the former city official on his arrival from Chicago. They had not seen him for five years.

Connecticut state police surrounded the trio. Witnesses said two photographers snapped pictures over the shoulders of the officers. Don Cobiello of the Waterbury Democrat was felled with a blow to the jaw. His camera was uninjured, but he complained later four of his teeth had been loosened.

Leary jumped $50,000 bail on March 6, 1941, the day the Connecticut Supreme Court upheld his conviction on charges of conspiracy with other city officials to defraud Waterbury of more than $1,000,000. He is under a 10 to 15 year sentence in Wethersfield, Ct., state prison. He was taken immediately there after the reunion.

Col. Nance New Hub VA Head

Col. Curtis H. Nance, overseas veteran of two wars, was today named deputy administrator of Boston Branch No. 1, of the Veterans Administration, in charge of all VA affairs in New England, according to an announcement by Gen. Omar N. Bradley in Washington. He succeeds A. D. Miller, who died Feb. 19.

Nance, 58, is a West Point graduate and has served in the Philippines, Mexican border, and with the Rainbow Division in World War I. In War II, he was with Military Intelligence and the IV Corps in Italy.

From 1920 to 1943 he was with the Radio Corporation of America as an executive in the foreign division. He held posts in Venezuela, Argentina, Japan, the Philippines and Denmark.

Rule Next Week On Rail Strike

CLEVELAND, March 1 (INS) —Deadline for a strike that would paralyze the nation's railroad systems will be announced in Cleveland Wednesday, presidents of two railroad brotherhoods said today.

President A. F. Whitney of the Railroad Trainmen and President Alvanley Johnston of the Locomotive Engineers, said near-complete returns of a strike ballot showed the two brotherhoods' membership of 300,000 overwhelmingly favored a walkout.

Lynn Girl Flees From Kidnapers

Lynn police today are searching for two men who attempted to kidnap a Lynn woman on her way home from work, but were forced to release her after she struggled and fought in their car. Miss Ella Dame of Broad st. told police she left an electrical plant and was walking home when the car drew up and the men jumped out and grabbed her. She struggled with the men as they drove away and lost her handbag when she opened the car door in an attempt to jump out.

She said the men drove out toward Nahant, but halfway out the beach road she struck one of them in the mouth and they threw her from the car. She walked back to Lynn.

Bishop Rice, Former B. C. Official, Dies

Word of the death of Most Rev. William A. Rice, S. J., Bishop of British Honduras, and one-time vice president of Boston College, was received today by relatives in Framingham.

Bishop Rice was a native of Framingham and entered the Jesuit order after graduating from Boston College High School. He was ordained in Valkenburg, Holland, in 1925 and was consecrated bishop at Boston in 1939. After serving at Boston College in 1927, he was sent to Bagdad, where he founded the Bagdad College.

He is survived by four brothers, George, Albert and Henry of Framingham and Alvah of Ashland, and three sisters, Mrs. George Cyr, Mrs. Joseph Jette and Mrs. Henry Woodward.

Major Couldn't Stay Away

Albert DeSimone, 13, With Major, Who Walked 33 Miles to Rejoin Master

Amazing Pet Is Back Home

"Major" is one of those amazing dogs we often hear about who travel for miles through every obstacle—guided solely by some God-given intuition—just to return to the ones they love.

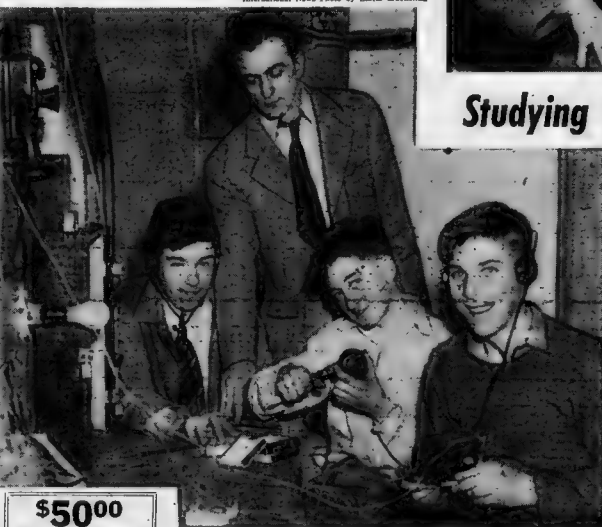

Major couldn't bear to be separated from 13-year-old Albert DeSimone of 14 Dolphin Ave., Revere, and Albert tells all about it today in the $5 prize-winning letter in the Boston Record-American contest "Why I Love My Dog." This is his letter, another proof that dogs are born for something else besides the scalpel of some ambitious medical student.

"I got my Major when he was a little puppy a year ago. About two months ago my folks decided automobiles in the neighborhood were too dangerous and we took him to the farm of friends down in Newbury. One week later I was sitting on the stairs, kind of lonely, when I saw a dog coming. It looked like Major and it was Major.

"He jumped on me and licked my face. He had walked 33 miles from Newbury to get home and now I can keep him as long as he lives. He sleeps with me and wakes me up in the morning. He has coffee and doughnuts along with me and everything is just fine now that he is back again. He's the most faithful dog in the world."

All letters on the subject, "Why I Love My Dog," should be addressed to the Anti-Vivisection Editor, Boston Record-American, 6 Washington St., Boston 6, Mass. The contest is open to all, and those newspapers will award a $5 prize each day for the best letter.

U.S. SHIPPING IN PERIL

THE MERCHANT MARINE establishment of the United States, which emerged from the recent war as the largest in the world and as the largest in maritime history, is facing virtual EXTINCTION in consequence of the antagonistic and arbitrary policies of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

For several years past, at least nine American shipping lines which have facilities in every part of the world have been trying to get the approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board for broadening of their operations to include sea and air transport in combination.

This is a matter of life and death for the American maritime operators.

World commerce entered a new era during the war.

Air transport became a major enterprise. Successful and profitable shipping operations are no longer a matter of surface carriers functioning independently.

And, of course, they are not yet a matter of aircraft functioning alone.

The two mediums are natural collaborators, and in fact are INSEPARABLE.

The Maritime operator who offers an INTEGRATED sea and air service in the future will GET the business, and the operator who does not offer it will go OUT of business.

The situation is as simple as that.

ALL MAJOR maritime nations — EXCEPT THE UNITED STATES — have recognized the situation, and are making provision for it.

The great British shipping lines are being permitted and encouraged by the British government to supplement their existing surface facilities with aircraft, and to offer the air traveler and the shipper of air cargo the medium of transport which suits his purpose.

The great shipping lines of Sweden and of Norway and of Holland are being authorized by their governments to conduct integrated sea and air services.

Only the United States is REFUSING this right to its sea carriers—and the Civil Aeronautics Board is the American agency enforcing that suicidal policy.

As Representative Richard Welch of California, ranking minority member of the House of Representatives Committee on the Merchant Marine, says:

"If the Civil Aeronautics Board were acting as a HIRED AGENT for the purpose of DESTROYING the American Merchant Marine, it could not go about it in a better way."

THE BOARD has not only BARRED American shipping lines from the field of overseas air transport, as Mr. Welch observes, but it has given FREE ACCESS to American ports and aviation facilities to competing foreign lines.

"Preferences given to ocean lines of foreign countries and DENIED our own transoceanic carriers mean that we will have to either grant huge subsidies or sit idly by while foreign competition DRIVES THE AMERICAN FLAG FROM THE HIGH SEAS," warns Mr. Welch.

"In either event, the United States will LOSE, and I don't think Congress will tolerate indefinitely this situation which has been brought on entirely by one government agency."

The essence of this perilous situation is TIME.

The Civil Aeronautics Board must come to its senses, or Congress must act BEFORE the American Merchant Marine is destroyed. To act AFTER that event will be merely to perform the obsequies.

The prosperity of the country is at stake. The employment of millions of citizens is menaced.

The promises we made to the men who fought and won the war are endangered.

We cannot afford to let this harmful situation continue.

We must act now, before it is too late.

NOW TAKE the last quarrel you had with the charming girl who became your wife. What started it? Or are you one of those couple between whom a cross word never passes? ... A chain of retail stores sells one pair of nylons to each feminine employee once a week. This includes part-time employees; even those who work as little as three hours a week. And so what has happened? Well, a number of women are taking part-time employment in these stores just to procure a pair of nylons each week. My informant should know, for she is talking about. She is a school teacher. But every week she works three hours on Friday or Saturday night in one of the stores mentioned in order to get herself a pair of nylons.

HORSES: A Los Angeles subscriber asks: "Is there a city where the bookmakers do not limit their pay-offs to 15-to-1 but pay full track odds on longshots?" As I have never been a patron of off-track bookmakers, I cannot expert on this query. But from what I have heard about these extremely cautious fellows one who pays full track odds on all winners is extremely rare. However, I understand that in Reno and Las Vegas, Nev., where the bookies are legalized, there are some who pay full track odds on longshots.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—My wife wants to plan to have our next child born under Libra. Please name some noted persons born under that sign. A—Three Presidents and one First Lady were Libras born. The Presidents were Chester Arthur, Zachary Taylor and Rutherford B. Hayes. The First Lady is Eleanor Roosevelt. Admiral Lord Nelson was a Libra. So was Nietzsche. There is a strong possibility that a female child born under Libra may become an actress. Some of the many actresses born under this sign were: Eleanor Duse, Sarah Bernhardt, Helen Hayes, Greer Garson, Janet Gaynor, Miriam Hopkins, Carole Lombard and Constance Bennett.

FORGOTTEN PEOPLE: A Bostonian says everybody remembers the Sextette in "Floradora," but no body seems to recall who played the principal parts in the show. "After all," she says, "the Sextette was a just made up of chorus girls and chorus men."

He challenges me to name even one featured player of the original New York production of "Floradora" presented at the Casino Theater. I'll name Edna Wallace Hopper. But that's only from hearsay. "Floradora" opened on Broadway before my time as a musical show patron.

PASSING BY: Anita Loos. Pint-sized literary lady. She is about four feet nine inches tall and weighs around 84 pounds. In 1909 she wrote the scenario for one of Mary Pickford's first films, "The New York Hat." Ever since she has been turning out innumerable scenarios, essays, books and plays. Right now she is working on a play in which Helen Hayes is scheduled to appear. . . Jimmy Cripps, Broadwayite. His is a curious combination of occupations. He is a mind reader, hypnotist and manager of boxers. Is said to be especially clever in planting ideas in the minds of others by the power of suggestion. Mike Jacobs should hire him for the Conn-Louis fight. Then Grip could plant the idea in the Brown Bomber's mind that Conn is hard to beat. This might result in Joe taking five rounds to knock Conn out instead of two. This would make the films of the fight more valuable.

SIDELIGHTS: Now I have a reader named Prudence. But so far none named Abigail. . . Drama scribe refers to "Oldie home" as "the greatest box office hit in musical show history." No doubt this show will rate that description some day. But it doesn't now. It has yet to earn as much as that delightful musical comedy "Rose Marie." Am asked when the song "I'd Leave My Happy Home for You" was introduced and by whom. That's a real old timer.

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE SIGNIFICANCE of the withdrawal of the threat of the transportation strike in New York is not in the defeat of Mike Quill, nor in the good intervention of Phil Murray, nor in the victory of Mayor O'Dwyer.

This is a singular instance of the worm turning: The people of New York were practically unanimous in their opposition to the strike.

Although there had been some disappointments in the Mayor's previous handling of labor problems, in this matter of the transportation strike everybody stood behind the Mayor.

His rejection of Mike Quill's demands was a response to public sentiment.

His statement there had been no compromise and his overt and publicized humiliation of Quill proved satisfactory to the citizens who are weary of the blustering combination of Boss Tweed and Karl Marx in Quill's methods.

The New York transportation system is a Socialistic venture that nets the city a loss of $50,000,000 a year.

The city owns the subways and they are deteriorating rapidly.

The service is inadequate; the trains and stations are filthy; labor is underpaid; and the taxpayer loses money.

In defense of the municipality, it can be said that private enterprise did no better.

The real trouble is that the fare is fixed by law at a nickel a ride no matter whether the traveler goes a mile or a hundred miles.

Each fare costs an average of seven and a half cents; therefore the inevitable loss.

The only real solution to the problem is a uniform ten-cent fare. This the politicians are afraid to charge, lest they lose votes, which is why Socialism can only work in a totalitarian state.

INTO THIS complicated situation enters Mike Quill. Associated with him in the leadership of the Transport Workers Union are some known and recognizable Communists.

The curiosity of this union is that whereas most of its membership are religious, much of its leadership is Communist.

The political position of the union is radical.

The TWU is one of many unions in the New York transportation system which employs some 32,000 persons.

The city could not recognize any union in this capacity because the workers are on Civil Service and lawyers hold that New York State law does not permit such recognition.

Quill also demanded an increase of $2 a day which if granted, before the financial position of the city is improved, would produce municipal bankruptcy.

On the other hand, it is recognized on all sides that these workers are underpaid according to current standards.

NONE OF THIS seemed to concern Mike Quill. He had contributed to the election of Mayor O'Dwyer and demanded not only his pound of political flesh, but a control over the municipal government similar to that once exercised by the Bosses Tweed and Croker.

Brilliantly, the Mayor went over Quill's head and negotiated with Phil Murray, who overtly repudiated Quill.

The settlement was a complete victory for the city. More far-reaching is the fact that Quill was forced to withdraw his demand without a quid pro quo.

The radicals, who were the only supporters of Quill, have been defeated in their attempt to tie up New York, throw millions out of work, close down the schools, imperil health and develop confusion and consternation.

AT NO POINT in the withdrawal was Quill's face saved. The Mayor did not even mention his name.

He cannot go back to his dues-payers with even a modicum of gain, real or illusory.

True, the Mayor appointed a committee to investigate and deal with these problems, and while it is packed with politicians, it will have to function in the open and there will be no tricks. New York licked the disablers.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 1—My friend Dick Powell steps completely out of character—I mean the character of his last three pictures, that of a Humphrey Bogart scamp—when he plays the male lead in "A Very Remarkable Fellow," a comedy drama.

I'd have to live to be an old, old lady before my daughter Harriet Parsons would tell me these things.

She's the producer. But I happen to be on speaking terms with William Dozier, so he told me that Dick had been signed and the starting date is June. The picture is taken from Dolores Del Rio "Pigeons and People," a George M. Cohan comedy drama which played 25 years ago. Of course, it has been completely rewritten and brought up to the minute. One of the top femme stars is being interviewed to play opposite Dick. Remember in the good old days at Warner's Dick was the leading comedian on the screen, as well as the girls' favorite crooner.

DOLORES DEL RIO, the Mexican actress, put over a deal with Joe Schenck when he was in Mexico. She wanted more than anything to get "Passion Flower," the picture Norma Talmadge made some years ago, so she asked Joe if she could buy it. He said: "Well, if you can get Mompilat to direct it, it's yours." Mompilat, it seems, is the top Mexican director and his recent picture starring Marie Felix is taking in 147,000 pesos a week in Mexico City. Joe says Dolores looks simply wonderful, not a day over 25, and she is so popular and well liked. He really had a grand time in Mexico City and was given a great reception there. P. S. Mompilat directs her.

THESE ARE exciting days for Joan Crawford, who naturally wants more than anything else to win the Academy Award. So many of the extras and oldtime actors have written to her, wishing her well, and since it is the first time in all the years she's been up for the award, there's a sentimental feeling about her. As soon as Joan finishes "Humoresque" with hardly a day's rest, she'll go into her next picture, "The Secret," at Warners. And Raymond Massey, the well known stage actor, has been signed to play opposite her and will return to Hollywood after an absence of over a year.

THE MOST AMAZING use to which motion pictures have ever been put is at the Nuernberg trial, where a sound sequence shows Hitler speaking before the Reichstag just before the outbreak of the war. He said in effect that "Jewish bankers are trying to start a war and if they do it will go hard with all Jews in Europe." There is tremendous applause, led by Molotov, of all people. He is sitting two places to the right of Goering, who was presiding over the Reichstag when the picture was made. Every time one of these Nazi leaders, on trial at Nuernberg, denies any specific charge, all the prosecution has to do is flash this film on the screen and confirm the charge. That film is right here in Hollywood and I am promised that I may see it.

on "Adventure"—"Gable's Back and Garson's Got Him"—is getting as much ribbing now as the famous ad—"What Did Mildred Pierce Do?" When Betty Hutton and Billy De Wolf started on "The Perils of Pauline," they were greeted with this poem:

"De Wolf is in the picture
And Hutton's got him—
It would have been better
If we had shot him."

Betty celebrated her birthday the first day of shooting—and, yes, Ted Briskin was there.

DR. ARTHUR COMPTON, one of the great physicists of the world, who was the most important figure up to the atomic bomb, has given M-G-M permission to impersonate him in their movie, "The Beginning or the End." Dr. Compton asked only one price, and that is that M-G-M arrange to get Mrs. Compton a pair of nylon—guess the lady's been complaining about the shortage. Our own Bob Considine, one of King Features' best writers, is doing the script.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Shirley Temple had two impacted wisdom teeth extracted yesterday. Dr. Berto A. Olson, who takes care of so many of the picture people, operated at Santa Monica Hospital. As soon as Shirley is well she will go to Mexico on the "Mexican Honeymoon" picture for RKO: Gloria Lloyd, Harold's pretty daughter, is to make a test at Warner's. I knew sooner or later some company would put in a pitch for her; now it's Dusty Anderson of "Cover Girl" fame who is holding out for a continued career. She is to marry Jean Negulesco in June, provided they can work it out; Lyle Talbot and Kevin McClure, the gal over whom Lyle battled several years ago, were at the Club Donroy. They are headed for New York to go into a play; think of it! Philip Yordan turned down $400,000 for "Anna Lucasta" on advice of his lawyer, Herbert Silverberg. That's a lot of lettuce in any language.

DOROTHY PARKER is adding some of her best fun notes to Jimmy Stewart's picture, "It's a Wonderful Life." Mrs. Turner says she talked to Lana and the blonde bombshell isn't coming back to Hollywood until March 17. She is leaving Rio the 9th; Joyce Reynolds, who gave up her career at Warners when she was tops, is said to be expecting a baby. Her husband, Robert Lewis, is now attending the University of Texas; Mrs. Jimmie Monaco denies her husband, composer of "I Can't Begin to Tell You," died broke. She says he received a quarterly check from ASCAP for a substantial amount. The only truth to the story, she insists, is that he died before he knew he had another song hit; Cro's has been surprised at the avalanche of requests for reservations to night. Jean Sablon, the French actor, is the attraction. I'd like to see him myself; the Rod Cameron and Janis Paige romance is apparently colder than a dead mackerel. He was with Yvonne de Carlo at King's Restaurant; Hal Wallis leaves for England next week to prepare for a couple of pictures there; as mayor of Malibu Beach, Brian Donlevy is taking the soapbox against the sinking of oil wells off the coast near his community. It will spoil the motion picture peoples' playground, says Brian.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, March 1—I suppose most night club-owners, both men and living in a dream world, assume that no customer's eye ever wanders as far south as a chorus girl's foot.

Dorothy Kilgallen

This is a plausible theory, there being so much fascinating topography above the ankle, but a faulty one, and I am just the girl to disprove it herewith.

I hope Mr. Billy Rose, Mr. Nicky Blair, Mr. Monte Proser and Mr. Lou Walters are listening with both ears flapping eagerly in the Broadway breeze.

The point is, the Chorus Girl Shoe Situation in the big glittering night clubs of this town is 50 per cent terrible, and I am giving it a break in the interests of strict eye-witness accuracy.

The lads who run the drink-while-you-ogle show, pride themselves on their beautiful dolls, on the lavishness of the beautiful dolls' wrappings and the number and variety of expensive costume changes.

They spend thousands of dollars on ostrich feathers, bugle beads, sequins and satin, to say nothing of pailletted snoods and false eyelashes.

But they let the sirens of the floor shows slink around in beat-up old shoes that Broadway Rose wouldn't wear to Sammy's Delicatessen on a rainy night.

IT'S MURDER, really. If you're esthetic (and everybody knows most night club patrons are), the sight of a big, tall lissome beauty contest winner being forced to amble around an elevated dance floor in a pair of scuffed, wrinkled, battered, down-at-the-heel slippers is like a knife through the heart.

I accuse Monte Proser and Nicky Blair (two notoriously open-handed gentles) of this crime at this very moment.

Lou Walters is in the clear at present writing because he has a brand-new show and the shoes are still in pretty good condition, and Billy Rose escapes the charge for the nonce because I haven't caught the Diamond Horseshoe show in weeks and I am not going to discuss what I haven't seen recently with my very own peepers.

But Nicky and Monte! Why, Nicky has spent a fortune on the show, and he has seen to it that even the speechless characters who whisk on and off with microphones and extra chairs are dressed like gaudy Heidelberg princes, but in his very first production numbers he lets his devastating chorines come out in old, tired, mouse-colored shoes that are just awful, awful.

Same with Monte. His babes have carefully upsweped coiffures, clothes that must cost a pretty penny, long gloves and even stockings that reach their hips.

But they seem to come on in every number from the opening to the finale with those same sad sack shoes that once were gold kid. Unspeakably unglamorous. Very detrimental to the whole effect.

Please take the platinum clip off the bankroll, boys.

Baby needs a new pair of shoes. In fact, all the babies need new pairs of shoes.

MAGAZINES NEVER learn that lesson, it seems. The brand new issue of one devotes page after page to a star-eyed story and pictures of what it calls the ideal marriage of Hedy Lamarr and John Lodge, and at this embarrassingly late date goes on record as believing that neither conflict over careers nor any emotional problems could ever upset that perfect union.

THE ONE DRAWBACK to being a celebrity is the semi-unfortunate fact that people are proud when you patronize them, and therefore can't keep anything about your visit a secret. The most personal things come to light as the result of the enthusiasm of merchants who are flattered to see stars in their shops.

At present, there is a tiny store on the East Side that by some miracle has material for making a certain type of extremely desirable girdle, and somehow Claudette Colbert found it out—with the result that there is hardly a girl in midtown Manhattan who doesn't know what Claudette slips over her hips.

lan Production Administration swears that 60,000 pairs a month are being turned over to the military.

From the tone of their letters, the lady warriors appear to think I am in some way responsible. I would like to assure them that I am not hoarding a pair of nylons—which in these times means that if any dame loves me it is for myself alone. I guess I know what is going on.

These 60,000 pairs a month are being requisitioned by the War and Navy Departments and if the WAVES and WACS don't get them I will be darned if I know who does. Maybe the brass hats are wearing the things themselves or using them to strain raspberries. They tell me they are also very handy for putting up plum puddings, provided you keep the raisins out of the toes.

I have just found out, however, what the War Department wants a few of them for—and this should kill the stockless WAVES and WACS.

It wants them for Mata Hari purposes!

Gospel truth, the Office of Strategic Services has just asked CPA for 1200 pairs a month—to be given to lady spies!

HERBERT ROSE, director of CPA's Textile Division, was so hopping mad over the request he turned it down with anguished screams. He told the OSS that if it wanted its female spies slinking around, luring information with a display of cheesecake, it could damn well get the 1200 pairs from the War Department's 60,000 supply.

Boston After Dark

NEW YORK, March 1—Postmaster Robert E. Hannegan's physical condition is quite grave, and much worse than generally assumed from bulletins issued thus far... Infected teeth may well have been the primary cause, but medicos have informed him now that he is suffering from nephritis... The St. Louisian's return to action as boss of the Democratic party is regarded as uncertain in many quarters... In fact, a successor is being "nominated" (unofficially, of course)... Jim Farley's name is foremost among several being suggested.

AFTER WRITING or co-writing such hits as "What Price Glory," "Gods of the Lightning" (about Sacco and Vanzetti), "Winter," "Mary of Scotland," and "Elizabeth and Essex," one might suspect that the 57-year-old Maxwell Anderson would be handled with some gentleness by the New York drama critics when he comes a cropper... But what the lads of the theatrical patrol did to Maxwell and his "Truck-Line Cafe" was enough to make a potential playwright of no more than ordinary talent take up another racket.

JOHN CHAPMAN of the News was most harsh... He said that in his entire career as a critic (and that's a 20-year stretch) he has never seen a worse play... Bob Garland of the Journal described it as something in which 31 characters were in search of their author... (Probably they were, at that, after reading those notices)... Pretty Leila Ernst, the good young actress from Boston's North Shore area, was, unfortunately, in it... But Leila will overcome the flop... She was too good in "Dough-girls" to be stopped by one bad one.

YOU CAN BUY hamburger in cans in the big city... five patties for 47 cents... Mike Quill is being berated by everybody but the comrades... The comrades devoted more than $200,000 in an attempt to elect their fellow-sympathizer Johannes Steele, the refugee radio commentator, to Congress... the election was crucial because the Reds this time bearded the Tammany Tiger in his very lair... the district in which Candidate Klein beat Candidate Steele was solidly Democratic.

ONE OF THE big guns behind O'Dwyer told his department that Tammany figured Klein would win by 2—and maybe 3—to 1... he squeezed through with only a few thousand votes plurality... at least 10,000 Communist party-line workers invaded the district on election day, and a dozen sound trucks extolling Steele made the day of election the noisiest on record... the fight was organized so thoroughly that teams of the Commies visited every home in the district, making their campaign "pitch" and moving on to the next voter.

SECOND—AND FIRST—generation Americans employed in the garment center were excused for an hour or two to vote, and, on their return, they were required to show a card... The card was passed out to citizens coming out of a voting booth, and the presumption was that they had voted for Steele... The Democrats feared that they can decide that district to the comrades, come next election... Either that, or they'll have to get to work and raise a lot of money in an attempt to carry the district.

NEW YORK IS seething underneath, on the subject of Communism... Russia and the United States and their relations one to the other are—at last—being given grave consideration... No do the comrades have it all their way... They have it easy enough in some federal bureaus here, however... It probably won't be possible under the very "liberal" Chester Bowles, but certain important New Yorkers close to politics would enjoy a canvass of the New York city OPA offices... Some say that a full 90 per cent of the officials and employees are Communists or fellow travelers.

MILTON BERLE's premier at the Carnival was perhaps his greatest success... night club critics are conceding that Milton is the best comedian of his generation... Joe E. Lewis, of course, is away-in Florida... the Ritz brothers got $6500 against a percentage for their Miami night club engagement, and not $10,000 as early rumors "guaranteed" them... at a mere $6500, the three Ritz boys are the highest paid night club act in the business.

RAYON FOR LININGS is the crying need of the clothing tycoons... no nylons here, either—not openly, that is, nor in quantity... cheap white shirts are showing up on department store counters... Sherman Billingsley sends his regards to Boston... Jack McCarthy, Boston College grad and boss of Filene's men's department, sat a table away in the Cub Room from Joe Higgins, Holy Cross track star of olden days and now one of New York's most prosperous tax lawyers.

Thoughtful Meal Planning Seen of Real Importance

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

AMERICAN HOMEMAKERS have been called on again to stretch their imagination to find ways to save food—and again they will come through with flying colors. Wartime experiences with scarcities has taught all busy homemakers that thoughtful meal planning with an eye to using available foods will further this end.

Good planning, you know, means marketing for several days or even a week's food supply, with a saving of time, pennies and food. Using leftovers with imagination, fitting them into delectable dishes that please the palate and the eye is another economy trick.

Here are suggestions for using leftovers:

FLAKED FISH TIMBALES, TABASCO

1 tbsp. lemon juice
2 cups cooked fish, flaked
1 cup sliced mushrooms
2 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
2 tbsp. flour ½ cup milk
2 eggs, beaten
1 tbsp. chopped parsley
1 tbsp. minced onion
¼ tsp. tabasco sauce
1 tsp. salt

Add the lemon juice to the flaked fish. Cook the mushrooms slowly in the melted butter or margarine for about 5 minutes. Stir in the flour gradually to avoid lumping. Add the milk slowly and cook over low flame, stirring constantly until it thickens. Stir in the eggs, parsley, onion, tabasco sauce and salt. Place in well greased custard cups and bake in a pan of hot water for 30 minutes in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.). Makes 5 to 6 servings.

VEGETABLES MOLDED IN CONSOMME OR BOUILLON

1 tsp. unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1½ cups canned consomme or bouillon

Salt, paprika
Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes and add to boiling soup. Season. Cool, and when it begins to thicken stir in left over vegetables, such as carrots, peas, beans, etc. Mold and chill.

CHICKEN A LA KING

1 cup cooked chicken, diced
1 cup mushrooms
3 tbsp. butter or margarine, or
3 tbsp. chicken fat
1 pimiento, minced
3 tbsp. flour
1½ cups milk or cream, or half
milk and half cream

1 egg yolk salt, paprika
If fresh mushrooms are used, slice them and cook in a small quantity of boiling salted water 10 minutes (½ cup mushroom liquid may be substituted for part of the milk or cream). Make a white sauce of the fat, flour, milk and cream, and add the mushrooms, chicken, and finely minced pimiento. Add a little of the hot sauce to beaten egg yolk and return to the remaining sauce. Heat over hot water, but do not boil. Season and serve on toast or in a rice or noodle ring.

SQUASH PUDDING

1½ cups cooked squash
1½ cups milk 2 eggs
¼ cup sugar ½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. grated lemon rind
Add milk to strained squash. Add dry ingredients, slightly beaten eggs and grated lemon rind. Pour into greased baking dish and bake until firm in moderate oven (350 deg. F.). Serve cold.

OATMEAL PUDDING

2 cups cooked oatmeal
3 apples, sliced (other fresh fruits, or dried fruits, prunes, dates or figs may be used instead of apples)
½ cup corn syrup
½ cup raisins
½ tsp. cinnamon
Mix and bake in greased baking dish in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) ½ hour.

Fashion

NAVY and spice effectively combined in a youthful three-piece spring costume is the something nice of this fashion... which features a soft shirt-maker blouse of white crepe... carrying its complementary card note in navy cuffs and a navy neckband tied in a small bow. The spice-banded hem of the navy skirt is an intriguing accent.—R. M.

Birthday Horoscope

Number of Soldiers Found on Admiralty

My husband has been "missing" over the Admiralty Islands since June, 1944, and up to now I've heard nothing more. Can you tell me if they have gone in on those islands and found all of our boys? I've been told that boys are hospitalized before revealing their names.

(Mrs.) C. E. F.

The number of soldiers found in a search of the Admiralty Islands has not been determined to date. In most, if not all cases, members of the military in the different theaters are taken to hospitals for treatment before their families are notified, as the primary mission at that time is to save their lives. You may be certain that if you have not been notified, your husband is not listed as deceased by the War Department.

New Magic Face Powder Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor
THE PRETTY WOMAN is news again this spring. Sentimental bonnets... flower-laden hats frame gay, feminine faces. So it is with purposeful intent that a noted cosmetician has chosen this particular time and exciting season to launch her new face-powder... a powder full of that hidden what-not magic to lend an illusion of beauty to every gal's outlook.

The texture of this new face powder is astoundingly super-fine... of heavenly softness... like star-dust or celestial mist. It veils the face, throat and shoulders exquisitely and clings tenaciously for hours. One texture only is offered in this powder... and that is sheer delight.

However, the shades are varied and fascinating... eight variations add warmth and radiance to the complexion. One is a vibrant blend of warm, rosy tones. A lovely light shade, blended with fragile peach hue is peachblond. Bisque... a universally flattering light beige, but touched with pink is wonderful drama for the grays and beiges of the season.

Rachel is always good for brunettes... the Rachel of this collection is bright, but light in shade with a happy warmth of color. If your skin is sallow and you'd like to bring the warmth of a vivacious charm to it while you're perking it up with conditioning creams... use the sporting pink shade... a pink radiance that's good for every complexion but especially wonderful for the sallow skin.

For a fragile Dresden look there is natural... a sheer, transparent blend. Suntan is a light tan with a golden Midas touch shining through... while royal tan is deep and rich with an exciting burnished undertone that bespeaks the golden goddess look.

New spring clothes show soft new beiges, grays, greiges and rosy tans. Use them cleverly as the muted background for your glowing complexion... made more exciting with these wonderfully-shaded powders. Or blend your skin tone with your costume for a monochromatic effect... the most innocent, disarming look in the world! And this new powder is enchantingly fragrant with the signature touch of this noted beautician.

For the name of this "illusion of beauty" face powder, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

EVERYTHING a gal has ever wished for in a face powder is embodied in a noted cosmetician's new beauty item... powder that is gossamer-sheer in texture... superbly flattering in colors... and divinely scented with the identifying fragrance of her line... all tied up in a package that's heaven-sent for any earth-born angel.

Sister Would Like to Know Brother's Fiancee Better

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: A month ago my brother became engaged to a girl who has been married before. Is it proper for me to give his fiancée an engagement gift?

If so, should it be something personal or a domestic gift? After they are married, they are to live with her parents for an indefinite time.

Also, I have another problem about her, one that deeply disturbs me. I want so very much to really get to know her, but I can't seem to get the opportunity. My brother, recently home from the service, lives with me, and when she is here at my house, they are never separated. His fiancée and I are about the same age. I would appreciate any suggestions you will give me.

N. R.
Such a sweet and friendly viewpoint as you have should be, and I know can be, rewarded with achievement of a real, understanding friendship with your brother's fiancée. First, since you are giving your brother the privilege of comfortably living with you (certainly a privilege in these difficult-to-find-a-home days!), you should claim from him, by a sisterly talk, the privilege of sharing with him some of the time they spend at your house. Assure him, "I like Betty so very much, Bill, and I want to get to know her and to love her like a sister... so please be a nice brother and let us all catch together part of the time she is here. What say?"

Do give the fiancée an engagement gift. I've answered this question last, because your brother's co-operation is not rewarding. I suggest to you enclose a note to her, telling her of your great happiness about the engagement, how very much you like her, how much you want to have a opportunity to know her better... then suggest that you all have a date, "just you and I together," perhaps meeting downtown for lunch.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: I have just received an invitation to a friend's church wedding, but not to the reception which is to be for only the families and the attendant. When I was married, I had a large reception, she was invited and sent me a gift. But now, since I did not receive an invitation to the reception, I don't feel that I have to send her a gift. However, I'll be guided by your opinion.

PEG.
There is a mere or less general rule that those invited to the ceremony say, need not send gifts. But really this means that when there is a large reception and you are not invited to it, you are considered a mere acquaintance, and as such, need not send a gift. Naturally you couldn't be invited to your friend's reception, but under the circumstances I think you should send her a wedding gift.

The Correct Thing

"IT'S MINE!" The child who is allowed to monopolize toys, who is permitted to "grab" things from other youngsters, etc., is bound to be unpopular in his community and is acquiring traits that may spoil his disposition when he is older.

Spring Parade Star

By BETTINA BEDWELL

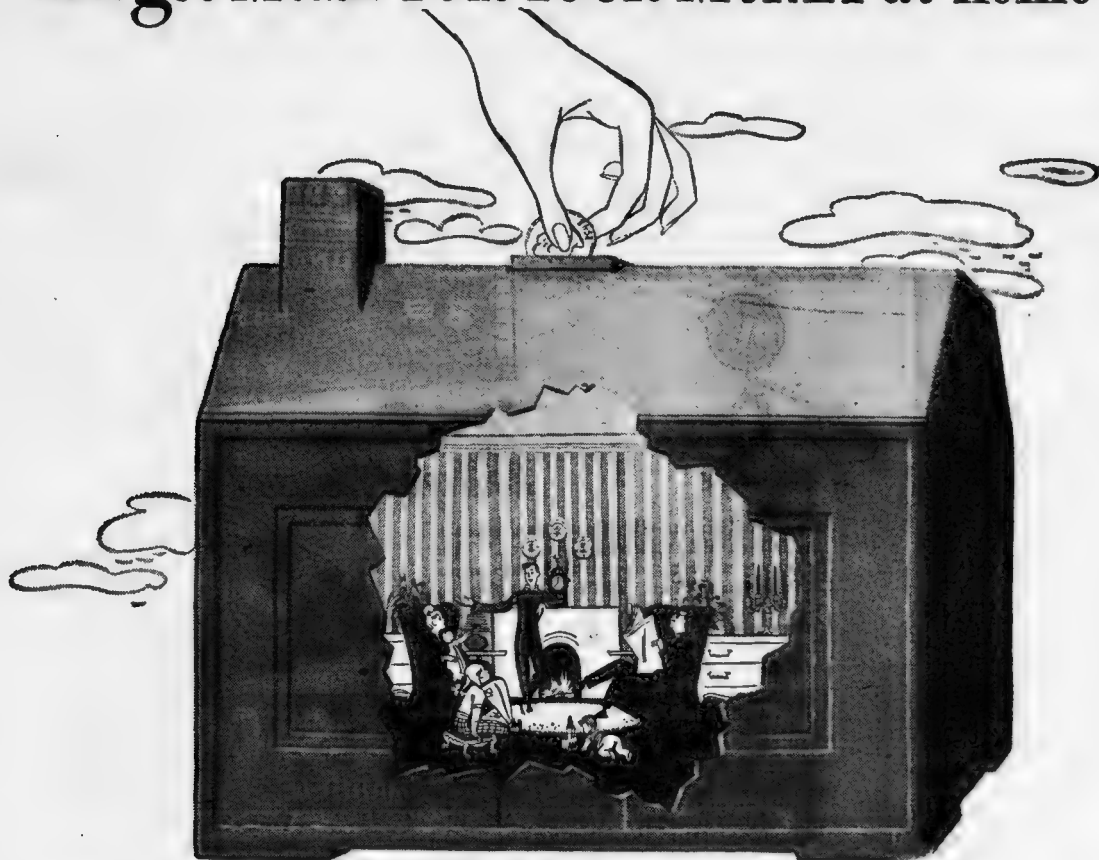

FOR a coat that is going to wear in beauty for a long, long time, there is no fashion in the whole spring parade better than the simple, well-cut coat of pale-colored fleece. It can be worn for so many things, and it is both warm and enchanting to look at. You'll find it in varying lengths and shapes.

No better coat of this kind can be found in the shops than the Anthony Blutta model that Miss Dulin has sketched. It is made of pale creamy yellow fleece, and is a full-length coat with wide sleeves from rounded shoulder lines.

A brown snakeskin belt holds the waistline, and the body lines are soft and casual. Brown gloves and a brown hat go well with the coat.

You get MORE FOR YOUR MONEY at home

Looking for a blue-chip buy? ... something that'll pay regular dividends? ... an inflation-proof investment?

Then, Mr. and Mrs. America, by all means put your money in your home!

Because—at home, you get MORE FUN for your money. For a dollar's worth of cold-cuts and a dozen bottles of coke you can put on a Saturday night frolic that can't be bought anywhere else in the world. There'll be warmth and sincerity in your fun—full-hearted enjoyment by your family and friends and neighbors. And when you have fun at home—your whole life is brighter!

Because—at home, you get MORE HAPPINESS for your money. A new radio, a new phonograph, is something to listen to together—to enjoy as a family. A new refrigerator brings joy to all—a new lamp is shared by as many as can crowd beside it. Fix up that basement playroom and you'll be repaid a thousand times in the happy hours it gives your family. Yes, every penny you spend on your home makes the family circle brighter... and tighter.

Because—at home, you get a BETTER LIFE for your money. Get a new mattress—and you sleep better. Buy a new stove—and you eat better... a mixer or a washing machine—and you have more leisure. A new chair for your living room means new beauty, more comfort. That new rug will be truly a "magic carpet"—bringing honest pride into your home.

Because—at home, you get MORE BEAUTY for your money. You can buy it by the foot, by the yard—by the pint, or by the pound. You can build it with hammer and saw. You can plant it in your yard—paint it on your walls—or lay it the length of your hall. You can polish it to a lovely patina—or appliqué it with vivid flowers and fling it over your couch. And when your home is beautiful—your life is beautiful!

Yes, all these can be yours—more fun, more happiness, better life. So don't throw dollars away on unessentials—invest them in your home. Start now. Let a "home" magazine help you with ideas; let the nearest good store help you bring those ideas to life.

Buy a share in a brighter future... buy for your home!

Better your home... better your Living

Smart Set Needlework Exhibit

By BETTY ALDEN

BOSTON'S SOCIAL LEADERS have hardy ght and a talent for fine needlework judging by beautiful samples of their handiwork currently on exhibit at the Women's Educational and Industrial Union. There is a variety of original designs and lovely color blendings in the display of rugs, chairs, bedspreads, bags and pillow.

Mrs. Louis B. Harding of Chestnut Hill delights in needlepoint and is showing many beautiful pieces she has made for gifts for her daughter and friends, such as a pair of pale blue hostess slippers with pink roses worked on the toes, eyeglass cases and straps for luggage racks.

Mrs. H. H. Wood Mrs. Edward Cave has done some pretty petit point boxes as relaxation from her Red Cross work and another attractive accessory for the home is the phone book cover Mrs. Richard Warren made for her mother, Mrs. Henry Lyman, with a pattern of strawberries in the center of a chaircase background and a strawberry border.

The eyeglass case Mrs. H. Holton Wood made for her mother-in-law, Mrs. Orrin G. Wood of Brookline, is included and there is a colorful petit point evening bag by Mrs. George Cushing. Mrs. Albert Burrage Jr.'s pair of sofa pillows with a needlepoint design of her whippet dogs is attracting much admiration.

Instead of a framed photo of her home Mrs. Chandler has designed and worked a needlepoint picture of her white Colonial with green shutters and lawn and crimson ramblers trailing over the door. And to commemorate the Coronation of King George VI in 1937 Mrs. Edwin S. Webster has made a chair seat with British royal emblems on a gold background.

One of the most unusual exhibits is a framed work done by Mrs. Rufus Sewall containing four needlework pictures of grand-son Bobby. The pictures are 3 inches tall in intra stitches and colors and arick views of the 10-year-old in different outfits, an Indian, Sunday-go-to-meeting and overcoat and sport clothes.

NEWLYWED MR and - Mrs

Nelson Warren Moore (Sally Nichols) are giving a cocktail party tomorrow afternoon for a group of socialite friends at their home on Warren st., Brookline. Walter A. Carl, Jr., and Edwin R. Harley will also be hosts at the party.

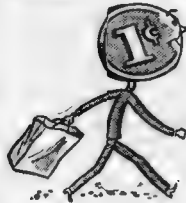

Guests will include Mrs. Marjalyce Swain Burrage, Mr. Garwood Van, Mr. and Mrs. R. Post Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Walcott Day, Mr. and Mrs. Seneca Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. McGowan, Mr. and Mrs. David Wicks and Mr. and Mrs. Grosvenor Ely, Jr.

ROUND AND ABOUT: Post-deb Betsy Day, who graduated with high honors and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa at Radcliffe this week, has gone to New York for a 10-day visit. The Philip Loring Reeds' daughter Sally, and sons Sam, Billie and Loring are all home from overseas and celebrating at family reunions. A younger son, Harold, 18, has gone to England to study on an exchange scholarship at Harrow. Sally, their only daughter, was overseas with the Red Cross. Mrs. George Cockell of Arlington was hostess the other evening at a shower for Pam King of Arlington who will be married tomorrow evening to Lt. Conn. Milton Hackett, USNR, of Cottonwood, Minn. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Maurice King, parents of the bride, and the groom's mother, Mrs. Hilda Hackett of Cottonwood.

Race Slush Fund Probe Assured

Legislative leaders today virtually assured a probe would be made into the charge by Rep. Cornelius Desmond of Lowell that $100,000 of racetrack money had been used to influence some legislators at the last session. The charge was made during a hearing yesterday of Desmond's bill which would bar lobbyists from the State House. After Senate President Arthur J. Coolidge said he expected an inquiry would be made "by proper authorities," Speaker Frederick B. Willis announced he would seek action Monday for a meeting of the joint rules committee.

Pauley Firm Paid Solon Salaries

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—A Los Angeles advertising man testified today Edwin W. Pauley's Petrol Corp. paid the salaries of two California state legislators he employed for six months in 1939 and 1940. Chet Crank, the witness, told the Senate naval committee he was reimbursed by Pauley's company for the $200 monthly he paid each man. He identified the two as John W. Evans and Cecil R. King and said he employed them from Sept. 1, 1939, to March 1, 1940. King, a Democrat, now is a member of Congress from California. The committee is considering

Boston American March 1—35

Pauley's nomination to be Navy undersecretary. The appointment has been under attack, but Pauley has said he does not intend to withdraw.

New Orleans Forgets War In Mardi Gras Celebration

NEW ORLEANS, March 1 (AP)—The tinsel kings of carnival are again on the march after five dark years of war. Thousands of grinning native sons and visitors are demonstrating that neither past suffering nor present inconvenience can make this jam-packed city forget how to have fun.

Momus, God of Mockery, paraded before record crowds last night. His glittering floats, more brilliant against the background of the paradeless era since 1941, heralded the restoration of the carnival spectacle that originated here in 1827. Tonight Hermes, patron of visitors, takes over as the carnival rushes towards its climax Tuesday.

The king and queen of the carnival of Merida, Mexico, arrived by air last night and were whisked behind a motorcycle escort to be greeted by the Krewe of Hermes, whose revelries they join today.

The king is Alvaro Dominguez and the queen Maria Elena Larrea, who alighted from the plane crown in hand.

There will be at least one parade every day or night during the remainder of the season except Saturday.

On Tuesday during the day Rex, King of Carnival, and Zulu, ruler of the Negro merry-makers, will parade. At night the Mystic Krewe of Comus, oldest of the carnival organizations, will ride through the streets on their floats.

Lamour in Light Hearted Comedy Filmed in Mexico

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Masquerade in Mexico," the Mitchell Leisen-directed romantic comedy now unreeeling at the Paramount and Fenway, is as light-hearted as Arturo de Cordova's lovemaking.

He plays an amorous bullfighter who finds the charms of a masquerading conchessa, as Dorothy Lamour impersonates her, quite irresistible. For this care-free Mexican junkie, Paramount has provided the Lamour with a lavish and handsome wardrobe, including many of those revealing coming-out gowns predicted for postwar nightlife, but not a single sarong.

It is Miss Lamour's misfortune to be carrying a "hot" diamond across the border. On second thought, it is anything but a misfortune. But dropping it into the excellently tailored pocket of her airplane seat-mate, a good-looking banker with graying temples and a straying wife, Miss Lamour tunes in on adventure, success and romance.

The banker, Patric Knowles, straightens out the border police. The script straightens out Miss Lamour's apparently criminal involvements. It seems a man she trusted had secretly dropped the "hot" ice into her reticule. Too late, she discovers he is not the prince on a white charger but a notorious diamond thief on parole.

George Rigaud is more happily thieving in this one than he was in that box office swindle, "Mr. Strauss Goes to Boston," which died aborning on Broadway. His light-fingered Boris Cassali is a much more dashing fellow than was his Mr. Strauss.

Under Leisen's skilled direction, the film moves swiftly and amusingly. Karl Tunberg, who wrote the screen play from a story by Edwin Justus Mayer and Franz Spencer, has doubled as producer and raises buzzsaws for the spirited, colorful pseudo-Mexican background.

On the same bill is "Tokyo Rose," also a Paramount production, which seems a bit dated now but is interesting nevertheless.

New Keith-Boston Program Delights on Stage, Screen

By MARY X. SULLIVAN

The Good Neighbor policy prevails at the RKO-Boston this week, where Ciro Rima's rhumba band and the Latin-American Sinatra head a lively stage show, and Carmen Miranda sparkles on the screen.

"Doll Face," which also has Vivian Blaine, Dennis O'Keefe and Perry Como, is adapted from Gypsy Rose Lee's not-so-successful comedy, "The Naked Genius." Screen credit is given to "a play by Louise Hovick," which is Gypsy's real name.

It is a better picture than it was a play, thanks to Leonard Praskins' script, some good songs by Jimmy McHugh and Harold Adamson and an able cast. Carmen Miranda's wonderful accent and mischievous comedy pull the show up every time it starts to sag, which it does in several spots.

Vivian Blaine is cast as the burlesque belle who would be her husband, and Dennis O'Keefe as her manager. Michael Dunne portrays the ghost writer aid, of course, Perry Como is a singer. It is no candidate for the Academy award but it is good entertainment.

On the stage, Ciro Rima makes up in agility for what he lacks in stature. The audience loved his carefully-enunciated English, and was delighted with Alzira Camargo and Miguelito Valdes, though most of their songs were done in Spanish.

With Rima's excellent rhumba music for a background, the show is vastly entertaining.

'The Last Chance'

To Open at Exeter

"The Last Chance," the Swiss film that has received the highest praise from the press and public, is to open a run on the Exeter St. Theater screen a week from Sunday. It is the first of 15 or 20 outstanding films that M-G-M International Films Corp. plans to release annually at this theater.

The program, as outlined by Arthur M. Loew, president of M-G-M International, calls for wide distribution throughout the United States of the best films made in other countries.

"This is not an experiment but a permanent plan," Loew's announcement reads. "One of the purposes behind it is to make noteworthy non-Hollywood films available to a considerably larger public than that which attends the 'art' theaters where these pictures are usually shown."

"Heretofore, even such comparatively successful films as 'Mayerling,' 'Grand Illusion' and 'The Baker's Wife' have had a limited appeal in the United States. I feel that American audiences will welcome the inclusion in theater programs of the outstanding films made in other countries."

"Heaven Only Knows," a new modern comedy by Louis Bromfield and Laslo Vadasy, is to have a pre-Broadway airing at the Wilbur, beginning April 1. This is not the Ohio novelist-farmer's first venture in the theater, his three previous works having been "De Luxe," "The House of Women" and an adaptation from the French of Bourdier, "Times Have Changed."

Terminal Leave For GIs Boosted

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Terminal leave for GIs got another boost today.

A House military sub-committee reported it had decided in favor of legislation which would put all enlisted personnel on the same footing as officers in getting compensated for unused leave when returning to civilian life.

The legislation approved by a military sub-committee headed by Rep. Sikes (D.) of Florida, would provide terminal leave pay for enlisted men for the same number of days that officers now are eligible.

Estimates of the cost of the bill, committee members said, range as high as $6,000,000,000.

The Sikes measure makes the terminal pay retroactive to cover every man who has served since Sept. 8, 1939. Men already discharged would have one year in which to apply for the pay.

Hitler Confessed U. S. Too Tough

NURENBERG, March 1 (AP)—One month after he declared war on the United States, Hitler confessed he had no idea how to win it.

A strangely befuddled Fuehrer is depicted in captured transcripts from his own chancellery.

One afternoon—Jan. 3, 1942—Hitler attempted to console himself and callers with these alibis:

"If the German army had only had six more days of good weather before the arrival of the mud, they would have thrust into Moscow."

"Rommel's retreat was due to the Italian failure to protect supply convoys to Africa."

"The loss of motor transport to the cold was the greatest German loss in the Russian winter."

"If England loses India, a world collapses. India is the core of the English empire. India has given England all of her riches. 'England can be destroyed. How the United States can be overcome one does not know.'"

NEW SERVICE

1 TO 24 HOURS

For most eyeglass wearers this new, streamlined service is made possible because Community Opticians make all their eyeglasses in their own precision laboratory. This same rapid service also available for eyeglass repairs. Bring the pieces.

Come in and see for yourself!

ANNOUNCEMENT

All residents of the City of Boston and Town of Brookline who are unemployed and wish to file claims for unemployment compensation benefits and veterans' readjustment allowances must use the new office of the United States Employment Service at 400 Stuart Street (corner of Clarendon Street), Boston, on and after Monday, March 4, 1946.

All persons who now have claims for unemployment compensation benefits and veterans' readjustment allowances and wish to continue these claims will also use this new office.

The United States Employment Service office at 9 Beacon Street will be maintained for the placement of displaced war workers, veterans, and others seeking employment.

Southworth Predicts Good Year for Sisti

By JACK CONWAY

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 1—Manager Billy Southworth of the Braves believes that Sibi Sisti will have a good year at third base for the Braves. . . . Southworth told this writer that Sisti has finally gained the experience he lacked when he first joined the Tribe. . . . The fact Sisti would at times play brilliant baseball has caused Southworth to believe that his choice for the third base berth has the ability to become one of the stars of the National League.

Southworth has Braves scouts posted at National and American League camps looking over the large number of players now in Florida. . . . It will be necessary for rival managers to later dispose of some of these players, and Southworth feels he will be able to get the strength he requires to fill some of the weak spots in his lineup.

Bill Stewart of Jamaica Plain, National League umpire who is here, called attention to the new rule on player limitations.

"Under the old rule a club has to reduce its number of players to 25," said Bill, "but it now can carry five former service men in addition to the regular number 25. . . . This will be a break for service men as well as clubs like the Cardinals who are loaded down with stars."

I asked Bill what club in the National League he thought had the most strength. He gave the top spot to the Cards.

"The Cards have a dozen good pitchers, plenty of great outfielders, tremendous infield strength and good catching," said Bill. . . . "Right now they look to be the club most likely to win the National League pennant."

"There will be improved baseball this year. . . . I have seen the Braves in their workouts here, and they will be much stronger than they were in 1945. . . . Billy Southworth is one of the great managers of baseball, and I look for him to get results. . . . The Braves will benefit from the large number of players who will be thrown on the baseball market by the latter part of the month."

Martin Boxes Tonight

George Martin, New England middleweight champion, will meet Baxter, a Newcastle, Pa., boxer who has been winning in Florida rings, at Al Caroly's West Palm Beach arena tonight. . . . Martin is in good condition. . . . The former All-America champion will have to show good form to win from Baxter who is a first class boxer and a hard puncher. . . . Steve Kronis of the South End will also be on the card. . . . Dan Carroll will handle Martin and Kronis and looks for them to win. If Martin disposes of Baxter, he will probably engage in two or three more bouts in Florida rings. . . . He will then be prepared to return to New England and take on the class of the welterweights.

Armed Gains Backing

Despite the fact Concordian, winner of the McLennan, will only have to carry 109 pounds in the Widener cup race at Hialeah Park tomorrow night while Armed will be top weighted with 118 pounds, the Calumet Farm thoroughbred will have plenty of backing. . . . Concordian, with 116 pounds, defeated Armed, who had 118 pounds, by four lengths in the McLennan. . . . The horse with rheumatism literally ran away from Armed from the head of the stretch home.

Trainer Ben Jones has been making speeches in which he declares Armed has not a chance to take the $50,000 Widener. . . . Ben contends that the shift in weights in favor of Concordian makes the latter a cinch to take top honors.

Dave Wilson remarks that Jones used to play Hiramway down, but the latter won the Kentucky Derby, and then went on to take the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap and other major stake events. . . . Jones has been pointing Armed for the Widener, and the crack thoroughbred will do his utmost to gain a victory and capture the pot of gold in the Hialeah classic.

It is expected that all attendance and mutual records will be shattered on closing day at Hialeah. The Florida racing picture will shift to Tropical Park on Monday when a 40-day meeting will get underway. . . . There is already talk of million dollar betting days at Tropical Park. . . . There were times when the Tropical Park management would toss a party any time the handle topped $300,000.

Jackie Robinson to Start Fight for Montreal Berth

SANFORD, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, the first Negro to crash the gates of organized baseball in modern days, is scheduled to report here today for the first training drill of the Montreal Royals, Brooklyn's farm link in the International League.

The talented infielder, who was a football and basketball star at the University of California at Los Angeles in 1939 and 1940, was reported en route from Los Angeles with his bride of a few days.

President Branch Rickey, delivering his daily lecture to the Dodgers' diamond school, paved the way for Robinson's arrival yesterday. He asked the other players to treat Robinson and pitcher John Wright, also a Negro, the same as any other athletes on the squad. As was the case last October when Robinson was signed, Rickey insisted that the action was not influenced in any way by any pressure groups.

"My sole motive," said Rickey, "was to help the Dodgers by signing a prospect recommended by my scouts. . . . If I thought an elephant could play center field better than the fellow we had out there, I'd sign the elephant."

A late switch in training plans moved Montreal to Sanford from Daytona Beach, at least for a week or 10 days. St. Paul of the American Ass'n also is quartered in this celery-growing center.

Robinson and Wright will be quartered with private families. Rickey said he had "never seen the boy play, but the reports from scouts indicate he should be able to play for Brooklyn after the proper schooling. It's all up to him, and he's a fine, high class fellow."

Robinson played with the Kansas City Monarchs in the Negro league last year, hitting .349 in 100 games. He showed report in tip top condition, as he was a member of an all-star team that toured Venezuela and other South and Central American points during the winter.

Rudy York in Sox Camp, Expects to Sign Soon

By HUCK FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 1—Rudy York arrived at the Red Sox training camp this morning but did not work out with the club. He hasn't signed his contract and Culbertson's from my section of Georgia and he had trouble getting here, too. No, I haven't talked with Eddie Collins but I don't expect any trouble agreeing on terms. We can get together on the phone after practice."

York had another reason for not working out. He has no equipment. He learned en route here that Detroit's clubhouse boy had been released during the winter, and so instead of his paraphernalia being in the Tiger's training camp in Lakeland it is still in Detroit.

He expressed himself as being "delighted" at this transfer to the Sox (for Eddie Lake) but did admit there was no better baseball city in either league than Detroit.

He weighs 206 after a winter of hunting and fishing and says he is in excellent trim and eager to get going.

"I always loved to hit Li Boston," he said. "Boy, if we all get hitting together, it looks like another pennant, doesn't it?"

York was the first baseman on Detroit's 1940 A. L. champions and last season's Detroit world champions. He led the league in runs batted in (118) and home runs (34) in 1943.

'Giants' Appropriate Name for '46 Hose

If the Boston pro grid club can take the name of Yanks, why can't the Red Sox adopt the appellation "Giants"? Certainly, it would be more appropriate than Red Sox. For one thing, their Sox are only partly red; for another, the squad is titanic physically.

Take the pitchers: Bill Butland stands 6-5, Woods 6-4½, Mel Deutsch 6-4, Hughton and Johnson 6-3, Bagby, Clark, Ferriss, O'Neill and Dolson 6-2, Jim Wilson 6-1½, Mace Brown 6-1, so that fellows like Mike Ryba and Charlie Wagner who crowd the 6-foot mark are in danger of being called "Shorty."

There's size behind the plate, too, with Doyle and Walters 6-1, and Bremer, Conroy, McGah and Wagner an even 6. That is different from the day when Peacock, Pytlak and Partee were donning the "tools of ignorance."

In the infield Al Fair leads the way with 6-4, and York, Russell and Andres are all husky 6-1 men. Good-sized kids like Pesky and Pellegrini are dwarfed in comparison. In the outfield Williams is top man on the pole with 6-3, Melkovich stands 6-2 and newcomers Andy Gilbreath and Sam Mele are well proportioned.

In the aggregate they look like one of Frank Leahy's pre-war BC football teams that included Gladuchuk, Yaukoos and other behemoths.

Now scan the Sox rooming list: Some of the boys are tripled up, the rest doubled. Andres is rooming with Fair and Mele, and how do they ever keep out of each other's way? Tobin, a six-footer himself, is rooming with O'Neill and Walters. There's plenty of size as well as conversation in that room. Down the hall are Doyle, Deutsch and Gilbert who have to duck entering the ordinary doorways. And how are they ever going to fit into upper berths?

No question, this will be the biggest Red Sox team in history. And there'll be plenty of power in the batting lineup because Mele, Andres and Fair all have proved their ability to hit a long ball in the first few days of practice, if their records had not proved it before.

Yes, sir, this season at any rate "Giants" or "Titans" would be far more descriptive than the traditional "Red Sox."

The Ferriss-Wagner rooming combination didn't last long. Williams appropriated Wagner immediately. They roomed together for years before the war when Charlie had to strew the mirror with neckties to keep Williams from his customary shadow bathing early in the morning. . . . Cronin keeps Pesky and Doerr in his No. 1 infield but alternates Fair and Campbell at first, gives Andres, Chapman and Lang an even shot at third. . . . Tobin, Steiner and La Forest, all regulars at some time last season, and Tommy Carey, veteran of many campaigns with the Red Sox, aren't breaking into the first two infields. . . .

PEP WEIGHS 129½

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—Willie Pep of Hartford, Ct., weighed 129½ pounds today for his 10-round non-title fight with Jimmy McAllister of Baltimore tonight in Madison Sq. Garden. The Baltimore boxer weighed 128.

Devlin, Barber Ski Sunday

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., March 1 (AP)—Two of the country's leading ski riders, Arthur Devlin and Merrill Barber, who have been battling it out for honors in the tournament circuit this year, will meet again Sunday on the world's highest artificial ski slide at Pine Mountain.

Devlin, American amateur champion and ace of the Lake Placid, N. Y., Sno-Birds Ski Club, and Barber, unattached rider from Brattleboro, Vt., flew here from New York city. They were the first contestants to arrive for pretourney workouts on the 42-foot Pine Mountain ski run, where the late Torger Torkle set an official world's record of 289 feet in 1942.

More than 100 riders are expected to compete in the tourney. Class A entries include a 15-man delegation from Ishpeming, Mich., led by Walter and Roy Bjella, Ellsworth Mitchell and James Lawson, and a group of 20 riders from Ironwood, Mich., led by Ted Zoberski, Earl Minkin and Nick Heikkila.

6 Braves Ailing; Cooper's Eager

By BILL GRIMES

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 1—After fair workouts, the Braves are permitted to catch rides back to the hotel, but they must walk to the ball park every morning.

The hospital list now includes Connie Ryan, bad finger; Ed Wright, sprained foot; George pitch to batters for twenty minutes, but the Braves' manager has limited "Coop's" mound duties to ten minutes. . . Incidentally, Mort will pitch the first home game here against the Phillies. . . Nanny Fernandez' arm is all right again and he'll be back at his shortstop berth on Sunday down at Miami. Johnny Hopp fouled a ball off his knee and has been ordered to take things easy for a couple of days. . . Recently, the Braves staged a mob scene. Thirty-five of them crowded into the shower room. . . The players who do not go to Miami Sunday will be given a day off, but Southworth will not announce the good news until tomorrow. . . Yesterday was the third straight Thursday that it rained here. . . G. M. John J. Quinn hasn't heard from any of the absentees. Art Johnson, former Winchester High star southpaw who was in the Navy for three years, worked out yesterday. His arm was loose in the pepper games. . . If Johnson's arm responds to the stretching treatment, the Braves will have a stand-out left hand hurler. . . After yesterday's intra-squad game had been washed out Southworth said, "I don't begrudge them the half-day off. They've worked hard for two weeks."

School, pulled groin muscle; Tony York, lame side; Bob Detweiler, injured wrist and Carden Gillenwater, blistered hands. . . Mort Cooper is ready to go. He gets on Billy Southworth every day to let him

Southworth keeps his weather eye on Phil Masi, who was operated on for a rupture last November. It may be 10 days or two weeks before the "Butcher Boy" will get into a game. . . "I know what Masi can do," stated Southworth, "but I want to see more of Hofferth and Poland." . . . Gene Patton played under "Dutch" Dorman, who will manage the Braves' farm club at Hartford. . . After Joe Perini had given his brother Charlie a beating at golf at the Hollywood Country Club, the latter scheduled a series of lessons with Joe Lally, a product of Brookline, who is the club pro

Bruins Regain Ice Title Touch

By FRED HORY

From now until March 19, when the National Hockey League playoffs begin, the Bruins will be gathering all their power to concentrate on the drive to the Stanley Cup.

Snapping out of the protracted slump quite as suddenly as they fell into it, the Bruins have come up from the depths of despair, or something, looking the part of real champions. Tipping over the fleet skating Canadiens 5 to 3 on their home ice may be all that's needed to give the Bruins the necessary lift to carry them through to the league title.

Many significant features are tied in with that win. It was the first time in 18 games, exclusive of play-offs that Boston has beaten Canadiens on Montreal ice. Then, too, the Art Ross-Dit Clapper brain trust shot Milt Schmidt back to center the Buddy Line, with Bobby Bauer and Woody Dumart on the wings. The wisdom of this sudden shift was very apparent in the Canadian game. This crack trio faced the much heralded Elmer Lach line and held the latter down to one goal.

But, topmost among the features of the Bruins' efforts, was the fact that the defense tightened up late in the game when the Canadiens were applying pressure. This is the news that pleases local fans. Sturdier and more reliable defense work has been lacking in more recent Bruins games. In other words Brimsek had company.

The dashing play of Pat Egan, who had been ailing with stomach trouble, was most refreshing. Herbie Cain carried on like a champion when Bill Shill was sidelined with the flu. So, altogether, the Montreal victory was a happy surprise to everybody. Many of the hockey writers, including this one, predicted dire things in this Montreal game.

According to Manager Ross, the Bruins, for the first time in their last six games, received their share of the breaks against the Canadiens.

The Bruins now point for the all-important game with the Hawks in Chicago next Sunday night. Tonight, the Bruins figure in a charity game against an all-star outfit in Ottawa. This game is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Roy Conacher may be used for a brief spell in tonight's exhibition. And Gordie Bruce is sure to see action. These recently discharged war veterans need plenty of work to be in prime condition for the playoffs.

Bill Cowley will report here March 10 to start preparing for the playoffs, nine days away.

to one downhill and one slalom run. The latter events are set for the lower Taft schusses, where the vertical descent meets National Championship standards. The first downhill race will face the starter at 10 a. m. Sunday. . . This is the initial renewal of the classic since 1942, when Barney McLean was crowned champion in Yosemite. The Denver, Col., expert is on hand to defend his title, together with such other western wizards as Gordon Wren and Steve Knowlton, ex-Mountain Troopers; plus Dev Jennings and Abbott Phillips.

Chief interest centers in the dual expected between L. L. and Harry Carpenter.

Detroit Red Wings Ride High

By the Associated Press
Riding a string of six games without defeat, the fourth-place Detroit Red Wings are closing up on the leaders in the National Hockey League race.

The Wings reached the half-dozen mark last night with a 4-1 victory over the New York Rangers in Detroit.

After spotting the Rangers a first period goal by Grant Warwick, the Wings bore down and hammered home three goals in the second period by Joe Carveth, Adam Brown and Ted Lindsay. Gerard Gauthier got the last in the third.

Brown's goal was No. 17 of the season and placed him at the head of Detroit's scorers as his team moved to within three points of Boston and to all intents and purposes earmarked the post-season play-off teams as Montreal, Chicago, Boston and Detroit.

Montreal with 51 points and only six points ahead of Detroit, leads the league and plays host to the Red Wings in Montreal on Saturday, while the Chicago Black Hawks, missing their play-maker, Max Bentley, go against the Maple Leafs in Toronto.

Gretchen Merrill Bids for Fourth Senior Ice Title

CHICAGO, March 1 (AP)—Gretchen Merrill of Boston, whose grace and grace on the ice have brought her three straight titles, will seek a fourth today in the senior ladies' division of the 25th annual national figure skating championships at the Chicago Arena.

Miss Merrill is one of several former champions who will defend titles or seek new ones in the three-day competition which opened yesterday. Others include Richard Button of Philadelphia, 1945 junior champion, who will compete in the senior men's event.

Virginia Baxter of Detroit's Olympian Skating Club and Dudley Richards of the Skating Club of Boston headed yesterday's parade through the required or "school" competition in the ladies' novice and men's novice, respectively. Eight entrants in each event will compete in the free-skating event—the championships—tonight.

In the men's division, behind 14-year-old Richards were Walter Bainbridge, Washington, D. C.; John Nighlingale, St. Paul; James Grogan, Berkeley, Cal.; Hays Alan Jenkins, Cleveland; Newbold Black, Philadelphia; Herman Marich, Los Angeles, and Garry Wilson, Cleveland.

Fishing Soon!

Surer sign of spring than bluebirds or crocuses is the itch of an angler's casting arm. And today:

Paul H. Provandie, chairman of the inland fishing division of Massachusetts Fish & Game Ass'n, announced the probable opening of the Norfolk trout ponds by March 16, a full month before fishing begins in public waters. The committee's stocking efforts promise the best spring fishing ever. All you fly fishermen, interested should contact association headquarters at 20 Spruce st., Boston. DARK MONTREAL.

141 Ski Racers in Nationals at Franconia

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

A flashy field of 141 ski racers, including the greatest exponents of the art of schuss and slalom in America and Canada, will chip their hickories in the National Downhill, Slalom, and Combined Championships on Cannon Mountain, Franconia, N. H., tomorrow and Sunday. In the various classes are 90 amateur skiers, 17 open competitors, 25 women and nine veterans, who will vie for honors on the testing Taft Trail, a veritable lightning bolt that darts and dives through the timber, wide and steep.

Because of the large number of entrants, each will be limited to one downhill and one slalom run. The latter events are set for the lower Taft schusses, where the vertical descent meets National Championship standards. The first downhill race will face the starter at 10 a. m. Sunday. . . This is the initial renewal of the classic since 1942, when Barney McLean was crowned champion in Yosemite. The Denver, Col., expert is on hand to defend his title, together with such other western wizards as Gordon Wren and Steve Knowlton, ex-Mountain Troopers; plus Dev Jennings and Abbott Phillips.

Chief interest centers in the dual expected between L. L. and Harry Carpenter.

Matt, another former champ and holder of the record of 2:05 for the 1 mile course; and Kristofer Berg, sensational Norwegian exchange student at Harvard. Both are superb stylists and speedsters. The women's race will find Paula Kahn, North Conway, N. H., battling it out with the Wurtele twins, Rhona and Rhoda, of Canada. Peggy Taylor, winner of the girl's trophy in the recent Walter Foley Memorial slalom, also has an excellent chance to upset the favorites.

Roland Peabody is chairman of the race committee, consisting of Sel Hannah, Ed Blood, Curley Brown, Bernard Herlihy and Harry Carpenter.

Dempsey Hailed By Hub Mat Fans

A capacity crowd greeted Jack Dempsey, ex-world heavyweight boxing champion, as he appeared in the role of referee for the heavyweight title wrestling bout between Champion Frank Sexton and Babe Sharkey at the Arena last night. Sexton won in two out of three falls.

The old champion, now 50, was given a rousing ovation as he entered the ring. He had no trouble handling the big matmen throughout the match.

At the finish, Dempsey assisted Lawson W. Oakes, president of the American Wrestling Ass'n, in presenting to Sexton a diamond studded belt emblematic of the world's wrestling championship.

IN AGAIN! Coach Gordie Connors of Winthrop High School talks over court plans for the Eastern Massachusetts Basketball Tourney with members of his team, back in Class B competition. Players are Jack Talcott, Capt. Byron Atlas (center, not in uniform) and Buddy Johnson.

Rindge Big Choice for Met Title

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Forced into a corner by the increasing tempo of the basketball tournament, schoolboy hockey will take its final fling at the sports spotlight tonight and tomorrow afternoon as four teams from the local leagues battle it out for the Metropolitan Championship at the Arena.

Rindge Tech and Needham will open the title play tonight with Lexington facing Boston Tech in the second game of the eliminations.

This opening contest had all the earmarks of the classic game of the season until Coach Ernie Pelletier of Needham popped up with the announcement that one of his stars, Wilf Roman, may be sidelined. The classy Needham center who helped his team to the Bay State circuit crown hasn't had a skate on his foot this week because of pulled tendons. His status as a starter will be decided at game time.

Roman's loss will virtually end the tussle that the Needham outfit (Roman and Walt Sabrosky) had in store to face the clever Rindge duo of Len Gagnon and Dick Briand. His absence, with Bob Smith taking over, will install the Technicians a definite favorite to jump into the final round tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Tom Moon's Lexington High team, winner of the Eastern Mass. circuit, may be in for a few surprises from the Boston entry. Coach Henry Chariot has whipped his Tech crew into the tournament in his first season at the helm after scoring rampage in a play-off with East Boston.

Tech's power on offense is packed in a first line of Leon Fannier,

BULLETIN

Haverhill High School's basketball team, undefeated in 18 starts and winner of the Essex County League title, today accepted an invitation to compete in the Eastern States Scholastic Tournament at Glen's Falls, N. Y., March 28. Holyoke accepted a bid earlier this week.

captain and left wing; Charlie Anderson, with a record of at least one goal, and play-maker Gene Hartling at center. And the Minute Men of Coach Moon will have their troubles trying to slip pucks through Bob Gardner in the Tech strings. Al Moraski and Hal Maddock will be at their regular defense posts.

Selection of teams for the Eastern Mass. Basketball Championships continue to be released in dribs and drabs . . . now, Director Henry McCarthy has come through with Class B choices and as yet there's no sign of the High School of Commerce as a definite starter . . . we're wondering why . . . or could it be that the bookkeepers are being held for the Class A competition . . . headmaster Frank Roland of Commerce is definitely in a receptive mood for an invitation.

Coach Jack Heaphy, with a Dedham invitation, will be stepping into the Class B fight for the first time . . . his team will be bringing a 12-0 record to the Garden next week. Jiggs Windourne and Bill Podolski have set the pace for his club, contributing 301 of the 500 points flipped through the opposition's baskets.

Braintree (13-2) will be back as defending champion . . . ex-Coast Guardsman (Coach) Arigo LaTanzi will bring back his Rockland team (13-1) the only loss to Weymouth . . . Winthrop (12-3) as Northeastern Con-ence titlist, will return under Coach Gordie Connors.

With Lexington beating Melrose, 36-32, last night, the Minute Men captured the Middlesex League crown to enter the tourney . . . winner of the Brockton Class A competition will also qualify.

In track, East Boston virtually clinched the district crown by qualifying 37 boys for the finals at the Armory tomorrow . . . Coach Billy McCarthy's boys already boasted an imposing lead in points from field events and relays . . . Hyde Park listed 15 qualifiers in second place.

Pics' Schedule Ends Saturday

Olympics come up to their final Eastern League game of the season at the Arena on Saturday night when they cross sticks with the Baltimore Clippers. Their game Sunday afternoon in New York opens their drive for play-off honors.

The play-offs winners will be rewarded with a trip to the West Coast where they will meet the champions of the Pacific Coast League for the championship of the United States.

Present Boston plans call for some of the players to sit out the Saturday contest in order to be at their best for the play-offs. Fishy Dumond will return to the Hub lineup for the first time in a week. The Cambridge skater did not take the recent road trip and he will welcome the opportunity to tune up his game before invading New York.

Max Bentley Lost to Hawks

CHICAGO, March 1 (AP)—Max Bentley, ace wing of the Chicago Blackhawks and leading scorer of the National Hockey League, will be lost to the team at least until the Stanley Cup playoffs late this month.

Manager Johnny Gottselig said that an injury to a tendon in the knee, which Bentley suffered recently, was more serious than the original diagnosis disclosed.

'Buff' Donelli to Stay at Columbia

NEW YORK, March 1 (INS)—"Buff" Donelli, recently discharged from the Navy, said today he had decided to remain at Columbia as backfield coach of the football team. He rejected several other offers of head-coaching posts.

Willie Pep Fight on WCOP Tonight

Wee Willie Pep of Hartford (above), world featherweight champ, hasn't picked any big red apple for himself in opposing Jimmy McAllister, Baltimore, in a return 10-round shindy at Madison Square Garden tonight.

When these two met at Baltimore last December, McAllister had the champ dusting the canvas with his chin when the bell intervened at the count of five. The scrap ended in a draw.

Pep, called the outstanding boxer of 1945, has a highly imposing record with 92 wins out of 94 starts. He hung up 62 victories in a row before Sammy Angott, former lightweight champion outpointed him. Then 28 more before being held to a draw by McAllister.
